"GREEN BEANIES"

Times have changed, regardless of the multitudes of people who have not. there has been a great amount of strife and confusion in this world in the past few years and as a result a youthful nation has developed into an adult with paralled privileges. Yes, I refer totthe recent war and the United States. I also refer, if a little indirectly, to the war and the youthful citizens of the United States. To the eighteen year old boy who was given and made to shoulder the responsibilities of men of twice his age and experience. Literally speaking, to the thousands of out nations children who fought, died and suffered with the best of the adult population of the world. These so called children are no longer to be looked upon as inferior because of their numerical age. Many of them are much nearer maturity than their parents were at a comparable age.

Down through the years, college custom has required freshmen to wear absurd little hats of green. These little hats were intended to enable the upperclassmen to recognize a college freshman of today by the standards of past years. The young, cherubic looking characters on campus now are the bright youngsters who are not yet old enough to go into the service or they may have a hitch in the Marine Corps. It wouldn't be a safe bet either way. On the other hand, the mature looking fellow who has his own car and conducts himself as an adult will turn up at the freshman convocation nine times out of ten. It seems a little childish and backward to attempt such folly as forcing an adult who is in college for a definite purpose to submit to such child's play as wearing an absurd "green Beanie" so that his upper-classmen, who might really be the immature ones, may administer their offish pranks.

THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME

Friday, November 1st----- is hereby proclaimed Sadie Hawkins Day of Canterbury College. From Friday morning, till 11:30 P.M. will be your second heaven. Pay the Girls back for the past years of drudgery, but be careful, remember Sadie Hawkins Day officially ends at 11:30 P.M.

Here are a few suggestions for your conduct on Your Friday, and we trust that your ingenious minds can think os a lot more.

- 1. Remember, fellows, every door, on or off campus, must be opened by a feminine hand-----ONLY !?!!
2. Do your books seem burdensom?? Let her carry the load.
3. If your gal is in the habit of being late, here's your chance to get even; remember, your hair can be combed several times, too. Keep her waiting when she calls for you.
4. Be sure she knows your preference in cigarettes, then wait for her to light it for you.
5. When you walk up the street; walk on the inside--let her protect you from the perils of the night.
6. When you arrive at the curb, wait for her to help you down -- Be Helpless.
7. At the dance, remember, it's her duty to help you off with your coat and to check it.
8. If there isn't a chair around, let her find one for you.
9. If your date is in the habit of stuffing your pockets with her makeup, give her a few things to carry: such as, hair tonic, tooth brush and paste, comb, aftershave lotion, etc. Make sure she doesn't lose anything.
10. If she is good at spending your money, how about going on a diet Friday morning so that you are good and hungry by the time the dance starts.
11. If she is smaller than you, make her pay for the tickets. If not, make her pay anyway.

Penalty for not coming in costume. You MUST eat three Skonk Innard sandwiches and down one gallon of Kickaboo Joy Juice.

This dance is open to students, Faculty, homecomers and all.

BOOKSTORE

Dr. Cumings states that he has recently received several anonymous letters from students who seem to be concerne about the campus bookstore.

According to Dr. Cumings no action has been taken toward any possible removal of the Bookstore from its present location. Dr. Cumings stated that there will always be a bookstore on this campus and tha t any future arrangements down town are up to the Board of Trustees. Thus far, the matter has not even been discussed by the Board of Trustees.

PEPPER WALKS AGAIN

"Pepper" again, this time it was a Plant Morphology field trip. It seems, Wednesday, Prof. Hillegas and his class went down to the park to study trees. "Pepper" must be psychic because he met the class on their way to the park. Every time Prof. H. made a remark on a tree "Pepper" had to investigate the tree and see if the suppositions were true.

Some one is going to have to pay a little tuition for "Pepper" or is he a veteran of the K-9 Corps?

GYMNASTIC EXERCISES

All students who are signed up for courses in gymnastic exercises should report to class regularly. Provisions are being made so that those men who missed classes due to a misunderstanding of the requirements may make up the hours, and have full credit for the course.

This course is required for all who apply for license to teach Physical education. The College has been very considerate of veterans who have applied for license, but the course requirements have been modified in only a few cases. In these cases the applicant has been unable to take the required formal course through no fault of his own.

Warriors Bow to Sycamores

The Sycamores of Indiana State teachers college trapped the Warriors by a score of 21 to 0 last Saturday on the local grid iron. The first half was hard fought and scoreless, but the Sycamores hit pay dirt three times in the third and fourth quarters. Both teams were high strung and tempers flared frequently throughout the game.

The pass defense set up by Coach Hank Miller proved effective against the aerial attack of the Sycamores since they completed only two passes in 15 attempts. Two more were intercepted and the rest incomplete.

Dramatic Club Cont. P.1

Three casts for Suppressed Desires were chosen and two for Where but in America. The different casts will work independently and the best will be chosen from the group. Also two casts were selected for a long play called Dust of the Road. The club is open to all who would like to gain some dramatic training.

WAA

The Women's Athletic Association met last Thursday night with 29 girls present. Halbrook, Tincher, and Copeland chose teams for volley ball. Tincher's and Halbrook's team started the evening with a fast game of volley ball with Tincher's team being victorious by a score of 28-14. Copelands and the winning team then matched skills with Tincher's team again being victorious by a score of 22-17. Jamison led the scoring for the evening with 10 points.

Ruth Greenly, Audrey Sedam, Virginia Tincher, Donna Pogue, Barbara Goodwin, and Kathryn Fisher, volunteered to sell soft drinks and ice cream at the football game on Saturday.

Mrs. Frazier distributed the shorts, which are to be made by Thursday night, to each girl. The evening was completed by the girls feasting on an enormous sack of doughnuts; the compliments of Mrs. Frazier.

OBITUARY NOTICE MANTIS, PRAYING (INGRID)

Ingrid, the beloved friend of the biology class, passed away peacefully in her jar this week-end. She was found early Monday morning by her grief-stricken friends. Her memory will long be with us as her body has been preserved for posterity. Rest in peace, friend, may your heaven be full of flies.

Canterbury Tales

-with apologies to Chaucer -

Some of you are probably in a class with a boy who, everytime a teacher slips off the immediate subject, will instantly raise his hand and innocently warble "Sir!" (or "Mam") and gently but firmly guide, the straying teacher back to the subject. He is secretly a member of the "We Keep Teachers in Line Club" and he is doing a grand job of it.

We have been told about a blonde and flightly co-ed who has a tan raincoat nearly covered with famous quotations. She asks every boy she dates to autograph her raincoat with a suitable quotation. Two weeks ago she dated one of our "brains" who, when asked for his autograph, promptly wrote in enormous black letters, "Quoth the raven.....!"

It is really fascinating the way the boys on campus go in for bright red and yellow sweaters and shirts. The brighter the color the better they like it. It may be to attract attention or it may be a reaction to khaki and navy blue.

The 2:00 O'clock Spanish class is really kept in stitches by the pronunciation of a tall blonde boy. Every day he struggles bravely, but he always comes out with the same thing, a stuttering interpretation of "Coochie Coo!"

The bloody issue of green "beanies" will be coming up soon and we are wondering how the law enforcement agencies of the upperclassmen will hold out. We aren't sure of the "brain" angle, but the freshmen seem to have all the brawn on their side.
