Mr. Parsons advised that Maximus/Manatron had agreed to provide a person for one day at no cost to the County and they had actually sent two people to service equipment at the Courthouse one day, but Gary Charles had told them he would handle the matter, therefore, they did not proceed to check with each PC in the Courthouse as was agreed. Also, no overall status of software usage was undertaken as requested by the Commissioners per Gary Charles choice.

November 23, 2005

NOTE: Councilmen Puckett participated in this meeting via speaker phone.

Commissioner Schrier opened the Commissioners' Meeting with a quorum of three Commissioners. President

Larry Hesson opened the Council Meeting with a quorum of six members present and Councilman Puckett on speaker phone.

Greg Guerrettaz presented bond figures.

Discussion of the Work Release Center:

Discussion:

Commissioner Whicker: My understanding at the last meeting was the action taken by the body was. ..only dealt with the work release center.

Todd McCormack: That's what I thought to.

David Whicker: No. Nor did it include any action regarding the Community Building for Probation Office nor anything like that. There was no action taken regarding that, there was discussion, but there was no action taken. So I am back to Hursel saying, "I don't know that we actually took that action that we weren't going to use the Community Building."

Ed Schrier: The motion was that we were going to build a new work release as opposed to any sort of remodel of the Community Building.

David Whicker: But we did not address the addition of Probation offices.

Ed Schrier: Did not. So, what are we looking at?

Todd McCormack: My understanding was that you turned it down.

Larry Hesson.: I think the priority was that we move ahead with work release and I guess at the expense of the other structures.

Ed Schrier: So we are looking at roughly nine million dollars o build a building large enough for Probation and a work release?

Larry Hesson: Yes, that's about right.

Wayne Johnson: The Probation is two and a half million, but that is a separate building. Combined into one building maybe we could save $500,000.

Todd McCormack: One of the things.....we can always add on additional space, however when the Courts come on line.....

Wayne, But when we build the new facility then we would have this building that has been remodeled and if we would build the work release and probation in one unit up front, then we would be already to move over there with a new judicial center.

Todd: I think one thing about our building as it sits.....

David: I want to open up maybe a little can of worms on the technical question on the decision regarding the work release and probation office. Todd, I am picking on you, but don't take it that way.

Todd: OK

David: The Commissioners have not made a decision on who is going to run the work release center. Whether it is going to be the Community Corrections or whether it will be the Probation Department. We have kind of been operating on the assumption that the Probation Department is going to do it, which may or may not be the way it is, but I think we have to get that on the table because that is a decision that I think the Commissioners have to make before we move forward whether we are going to build a work release and probation office.

Todd: I think you have to make that decision and I may have misunderstood as I thought that decision had been made. Part of the agreement was that we were going to pay for the feasibility study and we have requested additional appropriation and have a claim submitted. Because if not we have a legal issue of using Probation User Fees.

Ed Schrier: You talking about the 10-5 study? That was all paid for out of the Commissioners' budget wasn't it? When did that change?

Todd: That changed when the initial proposal came through, we were asked if we would pay for it out of Probation User Fees.

Ed: Are you going to pay the $12,500 or the $10,500 we negotiated it down to?

Todd: The $10,500.

Ed: Well, I thought maybe they were going to pick up a buck or two.

Larry Hesson: If the Probation Department is not running it there are several other problems to. One of which is that I am not sure the Judges will be willing to cooperate and Number Two, I'm not sure the Council would be willing to participate.

David Whicker: That may be the case, Larry, but I'm saying that unless somebody can show me where that decision is on record has been made.

Larry It hasn't, but I think it was an assumption.

David: OK, but that decision needs to be made.

Larry: Quickly!

David: That is needed with the discussion that we are having now.

Larry: Right.

Daivd: That is my point.

Ed: You are walking from a half million dollars and that may be the right thing to do. I don't know, but I have never been a part of any discussion or review of that being an option.

Todd: You are going to be walking away from more than a half million, because if you become a Community Corrections the County will lose the per diam of the jail prisoners and you can write that income off and I don't know what that amounts to. How much do they get? Around $600,000? Now you are up to a million one. You will also lose the funding mechanism that comes with the work release center for a per diam that comes from the State if you are not a Community Corrections facility and that is probably $300,000.

Ed: Todd, would you be willing to write, and maybe you have something in writing, would you be willing to share that information with us?

Todd: Sure. It actually is all is the Corrections statute, actually it is statute.

Ed: What I am asking you, as potential runner of this operation, would you share that with us?

Todd: Sure.

Ed: In writing, that's what we want is for you to provide this information in writing.

David. Are you asking that as a formal request in a Commissioners' Meeting?

Ed: I am asking him to put what he just said in writing to us so that we can put that into our analysis as to whether we open that can of worms any further or not. You see, you've got to understand something here, You've brought an old German half way into the process and I am convincible, but I am not convinced, so the answer is just what you said, put that in writing. I will check you out and if you are absolutely right, it might make the decision quickly and be over. But to ask this old German to sign on the bottom line one of these days when we have never looked at it. Everybody just jumped to a conclusion. Driven by whatever. That was the conclusion that we have been gong down the pipe with. Everybody agree with that?

Larry: No. We didn't jump to that conclusion. We have been – this has been hashed and rehashed where we are now is the result of a lot of discussion and meetings.

Ed: Did it include an actual analysis, a thorough investigation of a Community Corrections in the process? That is my question.

Larry: I think so. We are not. From a financial standpoint, we could not afford to do this project, as Todd said, if we were going the Community Corrections route the financial dynamics change considerably and they are headed for the worst.

Ed: Share that with me. We need that. Did you ever run a cost analysis on one versus the other?

Greg Guerrettaz: No, Sir, I did not, but Todd did. Todd, you put together, I think, a presentation, a couple of presentations on long range planning over six or nine months ago, this is one to Hendricks County on Long Range Planning – Superior Courts Probation Department and then

Ed: Consolidate that for us, Todd. Help us out here, Todd. OK?

Gregg: You put together, I think, over six months, nine months ago, and you gave them an overview of what you just said, so I guess, the answer is maybe we need to bring that back for a revisit. And bring the current Commissioners up to date, because I think, even, probably Linda was here when we did that exercise.

David: But was there any action taken by the Commissioners or the body to say that this is the route we are going to go?

Greg: Yea, I don't know that a fact.

David: Maybe this is a technical question, but it needs to be a part of public record that this is the route we are going to go, rather than an assumption being made and no official action having been taken.

Larry: Probably everyone would be more comfortable with that.

Ed: I would be more comfortable with that. You know we all need to be closed at the hip on this thing guys that this is the way it is. I'm not in any way discouraging the research that you have done to date. All I'm saying is that I've only been in this job for ten months and there was a lot of decisions and discussions before that I have not been privy to and I'm just asking that you revisit this long enough to give me to a comfort level.

Todd: I will be perfectly blunt about this and that I will talk to the judges about that and I believe that I can honestly say that the intent on their approving my use of resources on this project was with that intent and the reason for that is that we are going in too many directions, too many different directions, too many things are apparently not resolved or unresolved and that from my standpoint and listening to their directive was, if we walk away we could say we are sorry, we gave it our best shot.. We still have the jail overcrowding population staring us in the face and still have all of these other issues. Even though you may not like the proposal that's on the table, I see nothing even close or better.

Ed: I didn't say that. I'm saying no one has shown me a direct comparison that I just ask you to do.

Todd: A direct comparison isn't going to be possible

Ed: Oh, well. So you can't put what you just said in writing? Is that what you're saying?

Todd: I can put it in writing, but you are not going to know what or how much we are going to get from Community Corrections funding without going through the State.

Ed: Or, I understand that.

Todd: So I don't know what dollar figure to use. I don't know – I can show you what I think we will lose if we become a Community Corrections County, because I can base that on what we are getting per diam for the Sheriff's Department right now, and again it is speculative how much of a per diam we're going to get on the work release facility because we don't really know how many of those people, we don't know what the population is going to be, how quickly we are going to reach that population, we don't know how many of those are going to be safe prisoners versus, or that would be the equivalent of safe prisoners versus local people, but.

Ed: Let me just say one thing in your very veiled threat there. I don't care what the judges do. That's their call. They are elected officials, they've got every right to do what they want to do. They can mandate, we know that, we've seen that n action. They can do a lot of things, but one thing they can't do is take this pen and put it in my hand and force me to sign a bond issue. All I'm asking is for a comfort level and if you or somebody can't give it to me then it is going to have to be the other two sign the bond.. Is there any part of that you don't understand?

Todd: Other than the part this is not a threat or a veiled threat.

Ed: Well, I think it is. You said you feel real comfortable here at the end with the Judges. Well then, you know, if that is what it is, then that to me is – if it's not a threat then make it happen. OK. It's that simple.

Larry: We've been working on this for – seems like forever – one of the primary reasons for pursuing this is to save the County, really millions of dollars by building the jail and paying the expenses of prisoners in the jail when we could have a facility, that would, maybe not pay for itself, but come close to it. And we have, we've considered lots of options and lots of alternatives and we've, we've had conflicts with the judges before, and on this I think we had reached a point.

Ed: The Superior Court Judges, right?

Larry: Right. We have reached a point where I thought we were on track. Where we were cooperating.

Ed: I'm not saying we're not, Larry. Let's make that clear. Can somebody who was here before me summarize this in writing that Mr. Whicker, Mrs. Palmer and I can say, Yep, we see exactly where you are coming from, you know to give us the opportunity to understand that it is the right decision. I'm not saying you're not capable of making the right decision, you're just not in the position to sign the bond.

Larry: Well, you know that's a threat.

Ed: Call it anything you want. I didn't create the constitution.

David: Well, my point in bringing it up is that I thought there was something in the record that this action was taken by the Commissioners whether it was the previous Commissioners or this body. I don't really don't care as long as there is a record that we did take action as who was going to run the Work Release. That was my point of bringing it up.

Ed: I only want to make one other point on this particular issue.. Todd, as competent as you are of running this operation and making, saving the County money, I don't want to say making money, because I really don't think, but that is because operations will continue to increase in price and so on, so let's just say break even and I would be tickled to death. It's never been done in the state. And if it fails, you know it is like by little scenario earlier. I can't really, I can't toot the whistle and I can't clang the bell, but you let this damn Probation thing go crazy and you see who's going to catch Hell. It's going to be the Commissioners that signed the bond, who floated it to make it happen. All I'm asking is why we don't collectively give us enough data, solid, in writing, so that we can make that decision and get on with this thing.

Todd: I think the data has been submitted on whether we need a Work Release Center or not.

Ed: That's not what I'm talking about. I'm talking about the decision, if the decision is perceived as we are all talking about here. Tell me in that decision where we are better off than considering the Work Release because we can eliminate, I mean the Community Corrections, we can eliminate that situation if we've got some good hard data with somebody's name on a letter that we can then put in a file and we got a record. That's, that's what Mr. Whicker and I are after, a record.

David: Could we have that for the first December Commissioners' Meeting?

Todd: As far as I'm concerned you can have it Monday. But again, I have to, I need to check with the Judges.

Larry: Todd, essentially the data you have already prepared.

Todd: It's there.

Larry: OK.

Ed: So.

Larry: Do you have any extra copies that we can provide to the Commissioners or to print off so the Commissioners..

Todd: Yes, the report that he actually has is a draft.

Ed: In any of the reports that you have put together does it mirror the potential ion of if we were to go Community Communications what would happen and if going Probation what would happen. Can't you

Todd: No.

Ed: How in the world can you expect. You mean you want, you want that program and you don't want Community Corrections. Would that be, would that be an absolute statement, fact.

Todd: Yes.

Ed: OK. The bottom line is, is tell the Commissioners at least why you want to go this way and a dollar and cents comparison. That's what I'm after. You tell them we're going to save millions. Show me where you're going to save millions.

Larry: I don't think Todd can give you, I don't think he can tell you what the costs are going to be if we go Community Corrections. He can tell you what we won't have if we go Community Corrections.

Ed: Well, that's part of it.

Larry: And he can tell you about the uncertainty of not being paid anything.

Ed: Well that's data.

Larry: He can tell you that whatever we get from Community Corrections is what we are going to get this year, next year and twenty years from now.

Ed: So, you're

Larry: And he can tell you probably our inmate population is going to increase in twenty years and based on past history we will not get another dollar more per year than what we would get the first year.

Ed: Well, that's that, that's the kind of data I need.

David: Do you have some information you can present to us? We can't put this on the agenda for next Commissioners' meeting as tonight is Thursday, so would be then the next Commissioners' Meeting.

Todd: I can give you the Community Corrections statute and I can even inquire from the State and see if the Community Corrections funding would even be available above and beyond existing programs. for next year. I'm not certain that it would be available, so even if we wanted to become a Community Corrections County because I believe they have a flat line on their budget. Last year was about twenty-five million and I think there is about the same Community Corrections that has been approved for next year so we would literally take cutting somebody else out if we were approved. Not that the State might be willing to do that.

Greg: Ed, one suggestion is that maybe your County Administrator and I could meet with the State. What I was suggesting was that we meet with the State and find out what it would mean from a Community Corrections standpoint numerically. And if we could do it as a team, you know, I could do the numbers

Ed: I don't care personally. You know, I would rather have Staff that's already paid to do it, but the bottom line is I would like to have given to the Commissioners all the data you can pull together to compare the two approaches. That's what I'm talking about. It can be, we can make a decision real quick if we've got that what we can put in the record and

Todd: I can tell you my logic a little bit further on this. If the decision is that everyone agrees that we need a Work Release facility, regardless of who runs it, then the issue to build it, we should proceed with that, because whether the Probation Department runs it, or whether the Sheriff Department runs it, or whether Community Corrections runs it. All of those options are still there. It's not like your going to have a building that you might not be able to use.

Ed: Please understand. I'm 100% of everything I've heard that with the potential of the jail population, with the potential of the mandate of the Federal Government to build on to the jail, and all the other things. There is no question we need a Work Release Facility. Whether we need 200 beds or 128 beds, I don't need. You guys said 128 isn't enough. Those guys did an analysis on 200. You guys are already on the record of what you need here. OK? So, that research is done. What I have never seen is a real legitimate, it's always be in my opinion, from everything I can read the assumption in the beginning that this is the only way to go. And it may very well be, guys. But help me out here. I don't care if it is Mike and you and if you need to bring Greg into it to crunch some numbers, I don't care, but I fee likely the Commissioners need to make that decision before we proceed on with this. In the meantime we are going to be looking to build a Work Release Center. I don't have a dog in this fight as to who runs it, if the Sheriff runs it or if you run it, or Community Corrections runs it, or if anybody else runs it. What I do have is a problem is when 68 out of 92 counties are doing it this way and knowing that if we start it the way we are proposing now the State will never come in is territory that I believe if you are trying to do good policy you need to compare an orange with an orange as much as humanly possible.

Todd: I think the money is availablethe State will come in

Ed: I've been told it isn't, but you may very well be right.

Larry: What do you mean the State come in?

Ed: I'm told, and the research I've done to date that if we start a Community Corrections based on the Probation Department that the State would never take it over in the event this particular approach fails. That we would be back to ground "O" having to run it locally.

Todd: Take it over.

Ed: Well, to make it a Community Corrections facility. That's what I mean take it over.

Todd: They would if it made them money.

Ed: Sure, Well

David: Could we put this item on the Commissioners' agenda for say, the 22nd?

Ed: If they can do it.

Greg: All right. November 22?

David: Yea.

Greg: I don't think we can meet with the State by then.

David: All I'm saying is we need to resolve this issue.

Ed: I don't know that you need to meet with the State. You need to tell us you're, what you just scenario while ago and if you are willing to put that in writing?

Todd: Absolutely.

Ed: All right, Well then, that to me says it. Doesn't it.

Paul: Well said.....

Ed: That part he just said about, you know, if we go that route we lose the prisoners and so on and so forth. I don't know that to be a fact. That's what I want somebody to tell me. What, if you make the wrong decision here what happens to us. That's

Todd: The Community Corrections statute is going to help you a lot because you will see that in the statute, the bonding mechanism, and the per diem if we take their funds then we have to locally take care of all the non-violent, in other words if we decide to send them to the Department of Corrections, then what happens is they charge us back, they will bill us that $35 per day and take that money away.

Ed: Can you play out those scenarios with Mike Graham and give it to us in writing by the 22nd?

Todd: I can't play out the scenario but I can tell you what the statute says, but I can't play out the scenario because I don't have the numbers, I don't know how many people we are talking about.

Ed: You said while ago, if we went this route, that we would lose whatever prisoners that we've got. Yes, That's what I'm asking for. We know how many are in the jail, we get a report daily. We know exactly who's in there and for what reason. Which ones are safe and the degree of, you know, class of this that and the other. That's what we are after. If we can spread that record we can resolve that quickly and move on. And someplace down the pike here if we are criticized in the future for having done something that's never been done before, I think we ought to have our rear-ends covered as much as humanly possible.

Todd: I'll do my best. And I will. I do think there's the potential the Judges may have exception that perhaps I am investigating Community Corrections and they may say. "What are you out doing investigating Community Corrections and use of funds that has nothing to do with that."

Ed: They will certainly put that in writing, I bet.

Todd: Probably.

David: Well, but, you mean asking you to investigate?

Todd: Yes.

David: Well, I thought we were going with Mike and Greg were going to do that

Todd: I think that's exactly, knock yourself out getting the Community Corrections you know, call them and have them to come in and make a presentation and those type of things

David: Is some of that in here?

Todd: Yes.

David: So, some of what you are talking about is in this report and Greg, this is the report you were referencing?

Greg: Yes. There is one other report, Todd, that maybe I should check with you.

Phyllis: When the idea of the Work Release first came up we were told that for a couple million dollars we could build this facility and that Probation User Fees of $500,000 would be put toward that, so we were talking about, as far as I was concerned, a manageable amount and now this figure for Work Release Faculty only is five and a quarter million dollars. That's a long way from a couple million dollars. And, you know, that was workable for me and I was excited about it and you know, in Todd's defense, I was on the Council for almost five years and I have a lot of confidence in Todd and in his report. When he came to Council the questions was asked about becoming a Community Corrections County and the information he gave me was kind of like when I was on the School Board and the Federal Government would dangle grants in front of your nose for new programs and that, that sounds good, but then you have to take their mandates so you know you do have to weigh that. I guess I have the confidence of Todd, he has looked at that and feels that it is not, but that's just an editorial comment. I still have the question about the two million dollars up to five and a quarter million.

David: Our action at the last meeting, unless someone wants to rescind the action, was to build a Work Release Center.

Phyllis: Yes, I know, but I wasn't at the last meeting.

David: We made a determination and I am comfortable with that and ready to move on. My issue is the clarification as to who is going to run it and to make it a part of the record. And, I would like to see us have Ed put the Work Release on the Commissioners' agenda for the 22nd. Have Todd in to review some of this, which, you know, we haven't heard you present this. Mike or Greg or both can talk about Community Corrections. I don't think it is fair to you to have you talk about Community Corrections because it needs to be somebody else other than you to talk about that.

Ed: When you are referencing law like you did while ago I think you can easily do that.

Todd: I can make

Ed: That's all I am talking about. And, Todd, if you take this personal, you are reading this totally the wrong way. I don't care if you run it, I don't care if your brother runs it; I don't care if the Judges run it in the end, but when 68 out of 92 counties and 0 out of the other remaining don't have Probation. All I'm saying is show us, show us that we are making the right decision and we might be criticized, whatever we do, and I don't mind that as long as we have looked at options and bedded it down and put it behind us and keep moving on. You guys have been working on this for a long time and, you know, we

Todd: I don't, I take very few things personal, so.

Ed: OK. Well, thank you.

Todd: That's not an issue with me. And you are right, I am pretty confident, and I appreciate what you said, Phyllis. And I think not only am I confident, but I think from the stand point that if I am coming here with a request, to specially deal with comments that you said, I am very, very sensitive to the fact of my obligation to the Council, to the Commissioners and to the taxpayers. And I would not be, for one second, saying that I believe that is this was the best way to go unless I was absolutely convinced that this is the best thing to do, and

Ed: Right.

Todd: I have no cross to bear no, no agenda to push. I really believe that given the research that I have done, the information that I have, this is the right decision.

Ed: Right This report was in 04 you know, so you might want to check if things changed or not. Some things have changed, like we've doubled the cost of the building, we know that. But, if there is anything else. But, some of that was anticipating that we were doing something with the Community Building, was it not? And,

Larry: We were ball parking, and

Ed: Right

Hursel: I would like to add something to this discussion something that I am just positive on, that if you are going to spend money and borrow money, now is the day to do it, because if you look, you are going to spend ten million dollars in interest. That is at today's rate that he figured at 6%, right?

Greg: Yes.

Hursel: My opinion, my opinion, rates are not going to go any lower, but I think they could go higher. I sat in a bank and looked at 21% interest rates not too many years ago, and as long as the federal government is having to borrow, think of the trillions of dollars they have been borrowing. Prior to 1980 the national debt was less than a trillion dollars. Today is right at eight trillion dollars. Somebody is short of money. When they are short of money I am of the opinion the interest rates are going to go up. So if we are going to do anything. I say now is the time to do it.

Ed: I agree with that scenario. The worst thing can happen is they go down and we can refinance.

Hursel: that is exactly right. We can always refinance.

David: Could we address this issue on 1:00 PM on Tuesday, 22nd of November to talk about this or whatever, Todd?

Todd: Tuesday, at 1:00?

David: We could do it in the morning, but right now we have the afternoon open.

Todd: I could do that.

Phyllis: We have more flexibility for discussion in the afternoon.

Larry: And I need to apologize to you, Todd. I remember sitting in your office and, really not all that long ago and telling you that we would have the doors open by January 2006.

David: Well, I don't see why we still can't.

Larry: But no, this coming January?

Ed: Thirty days?

David: Oh, oh, no. That's going to be a little tough.

Greg: You haven't even gotten into design and if we, and I told you last time if we run the design phase we are likely six months out. Remember DLGF takes ninety days.

Ed: Will they still look at this even though it is outside the levy?

Greg: They will look at it because it is outside, unless you decide to do a revenue bond. Then you have taxpayers and yea, it could be subject to remonstrance.

Larry: I apologize if I reacted too strongly, but you know it's just a sense of frustration, but I understand

Greg: Phyllis, on that two to three million, I noticed that was when we ball parked it and the process that we have gone through for many years is that we ball park it and then see which one rises to Priority No. 1 and it did raise to Priority 1 and then my guidance has always been that we get an architect involved so we would know two million, five million or seven.

Phyllis: We knew that Greenfield cost right at one million and

Todd: They were two point five or something like that

Greg: Two point something

Ed: That would be three and a half today, if you did the same thing and didn't make any changes

Larry: That one was much smaller than this would be.

Greg: I guess to bring it back to where it started, if you need another option let me know.

The Revenue Committee should maintain an inventory of currently approved rates and charges for all departments in the County and they should look at seeking Legislative changes to allow growing payroll costs to be allocated to user fees. Commissioner Schrier stated there was consideration of the appointment to the Health Board and that he and Commissioner Palmer had met with Ron Ping and John Battershell, both Democrats, for this position. The Personnel Committee recommended that the funding for County Administrator be withdrawn.

The Personnel Committee recommended that an individual in the Computer Department be assigned to help with office duties in the Commissioners' Office.

The Personnel Committee has scheduled a meeting for Thursday, February 24, at 4:30 PM and a Joint Commissioner and Council Meeting at 5:00 PM that date.

Commissioner Schrier stated the survey results from the Long Range Planning listed a work release is the top priority as this will relieve the current Jail.

Tim Schwalm, Mussett, Nicholas & Associates, explained the need for these changes and of the soil tests. Mr. Ayers stated these changes will actually go to the Building Facilities Board for approval, however, he felt these changes should be taken to the Commissioners to keep everyone informed.

Ross E. Snider, USI Consultants, further explained this agreement and advised they planned to do as much as they can during the winter and to work the time frame with the golf course, as a good neighbor. Mr. Ayers stated that as we approach construction, we will advertise for proposals and select a consultant for inspection with a separate contract. It was also noted that with Federal Aid contracts there are different requirements to be met during the right-of-way acquisition process, therefore, the Right of Way Services item needs to be increased.

Commissioner Cleveland moved to approve and execute the Supplemental Agreement for Bridge No. 274, as presented and recommended by the County Engineer. Commissioner Palmer seconded the motion and the motion was approved unanimously 3-0-0.

IN THE MATTER OF ENGINEERING

John Ayers gave an update on several projects and stated that there would be a public information meeting on February 10 at the Kingsway Christian Church at 5:00 PM with INDOT to discuss adding travel lanes on US 36 from SR 267 to I-465.

John Ayers presented a draft letter to INDOT stating that the signage on U.S. 36 at the Ronald Reagan Parkway still says "CR 1050E" and with the continuing development of this road, and Clarian Health facility using the Parkway as their address the signage needs to be updated as soon as possible. Commissioner Palmer moved to approve and sign the letter to the Department of Transportation, as presented by the County Engineer. Mr. Ayers further advised this needs to be advertised two times in local papers. There was discussion they may need to replace this item with a divider. Commissioner Cleveland moved to advertise the monstrosity in the Voter Registration Office for sale. Commissioner Palmer seconded the motion and the motion was approved unanimously 3-0-0.

Judge Boles instructed Mr. Parsons to order and install Office and he was willing to take any flack. Doug stated they had purchased Dell equipment, but with approval from the Computer Department. Mr. Morris further stated they had already repaired the equipment due to the time frame .

Commissioner Cleveland stressed the need for all departments to purchase their equipment thru the IT Computer Department.

Doug Morris stated he plans to bring all PC's at the Courthouse under the main domain within the next few weeks and hopefully this will help secure and protect.

The Commissioners requested a letter be sent to the Courthouse and to all departments that we have computers in reserve ready to install at a moment's notice, that this letter be drafted by the Computer Department, to bring back for approval and that it will go out from the Commissioners.

It was the consensus of the Commissioners for Mr. Parsons to choose the county best suited.

John Parsons advised that the entire Sheriff's Department has a blackberry and now all 34 servers can notify him with more readable technology. Mr. Parsons advised it would best serve the County if they purchased Doug Morris a blackberry for $150 from their budget and add it to the County pool of minutes with Nextel. Doug could then turn his cell phone back in and this would eliminate one phone. There was discussion that the Sheriff's Department purchased their phones from the Commissary Fund, at no cost to the County, but without County approval. Commissioner Cleveland moved that if the Computer Department has funds to purchase this blackberry and if it will help Doug Morris be able to better do his job that they proceed. Commissioner Palmer seconded the motion and the motion was approved unanimously 3-0-0.

Mr. Parsons advised that the only way we can reach Mr. Charles is by cell phone. It was the consensus of the Commissioners to deny the request.

Commissioner Schrier explained the One-Stop-Permit Shopping and questioned if we could do this in-house as the California based source would cost $120,000. John Parsons stated he felt they could do it in-house for considerably less and was agreeable to check and report back in two weeks.

Discussion of the Work Release Center:

Discussion:

Commissioner Whicker: My understanding at the last meeting was the action taken by the body was. ..only dealt with the work release center.

Todd McCormack: That's what I thought to.

David Whicker: No. Nor did it include any action regarding the Community Building for Probation Office nor anything like that. There was no action taken regarding that, there was discussion, but there was no action taken. So I am back to Hursel saying, "I don't know that we actually took that action that we weren't going to use the Community Building."

Ed Schrier: The motion was that we were going to build a new work release as opposed to any sort of remodel of the Community Building.

David Whicker: But we did not address the addition of Probation offices.

Ed Schrier: Did not. So, what are we looking at?

Todd McCormack: My understanding was that you turned it down.

Larry Hesson.: I think the priority was that we move ahead with work release and I guess at the expense of the other structures.

Ed Schrier: So we are looking at roughly nine million dollars o build a building large enough for Probation and a work release?

Larry Hesson: Yes, that's about right.

Wayne Johnson: The Probation is two and a half million, but that is a separate building. Combined into one building maybe we could save $500,000.

Todd McCormack: One of the things.....we can always add on additional space, however when the Courts come on line.....

Wayne, But when we build the new facility then we would have this building that has been remodeled and if we would build the work release and probation in one unit up front, then we would be already to move over there with a new judicial center.

Todd: I think one thing about our building as it sits.....

David: I want to open up maybe a little can of worms on the technical question on the decision regarding the work release and probation office. Todd, I am picking on you, but don't take it that way.

Todd: OK

David: The Commissioners have not made a decision on who is going to run the work release center. Whether it is going to be the Community Corrections or whether it will be the Probation Department. We have kind of been operating on the assumption that the Probation Department is going to do it, which may or may not be the way it is, but I think we have to get that on the table because that is a decision that I think the Commissioners have to make before we move forward whether we are going to build a work release and probation office.

Todd: I think you have to make that decision and I may have misunderstood as I thought that decision had been made. Part of the agreement was that we were going to pay for the feasibility study and we have requested additional appropriation and have a claim submitted. Because if not we have a legal issue of using Probation User Fees.

Ed Schrier: You talking about the 10-5 study? That was all paid for out of the Commissioners' budget wasn't it? When did that change?

Todd: That changed when the initial proposal came through, we were asked if we would pay for it out of Probation User Fees.

Ed: Are you going to pay the $12,500 or the $10,500 we negotiated it down to?

Todd: The $10,500.

Ed: Well, I thought maybe they were going to pick up a buck or two.

Larry Hesson: If the Probation Department is not running it there are several other problems to. One of which is that I am not sure the Judges will be willing to cooperate and Number Two, I'm not sure the Council would be willing to participate.

David Whicker: That may be the case, Larry, but I'm saying that unless somebody can show me where that decision is on record has been made.

Larry It hasn't, but I think it was an assumption.

David: OK, but that decision needs to be made.

Larry: Quickly!

David: That is needed with the discussion that we are having now.

Larry: Right.

Daivd: That is my point.

Ed: You are walking from a half million dollars and that may be the right thing to do. I don't know, but I have never been a part of any discussion or review of that being an option.

Todd: You are going to be walking away from more than a half million, because if you become a Community Corrections the County will lose the per diam of the jail prisoners and you can write that income off and I don't know what that amounts to. How much do they get? Around $600,000? Now you are up to a million one. You will also lose the funding mechanism that comes with the work release center for a per diam that comes from the State if you are not a Community Corrections facility and that is probably $300,000.

Ed: Todd, would you be willing to write, and maybe you have something in writing, would you be willing to share that information with us?

Todd: Sure. It actually is all is the Corrections statute, actually it is statute.

Ed: What I am asking you, as potential runner of this operation, would you share that with us?

Todd: Sure.

Ed: In writing, that's what we want is for you to provide this information in writing.

David. Are you asking that as a formal request in a Commissioners' Meeting?

Ed: I am asking him to put what he just said in writing to us so that we can put that into our analysis as to whether we open that can of worms any further or not. You see, you've got to understand something here, You've brought an old German half way into the process and I am convincible, but I am not convinced, so the answer is just what you said, put that in writing. I will check you out and if you are absolutely right, it might make the decision quickly and be over. But to ask this old German to sign on the bottom line one of these days when we have never looked at it. Everybody just jumped to a conclusion. Driven by whatever. That was the conclusion that we have been gong down the pipe with. Everybody agree with that?

Larry: No. We didn't jump to that conclusion. We have been – this has been hashed and rehashed where we are now is the result of a lot of discussion and meetings.

Ed: Did it include an actual analysis, a thorough investigation of a Community Corrections in the process? That is my question.

Larry: I think so. We are not. From a financial standpoint, we could not afford to do this project, as Todd said, if we were going the Community Corrections route the financial dynamics change considerably and they are headed for the worst.

Ed: Share that with me. We need that. Did you ever run a cost analysis on one versus the other?

Greg Guerrettaz: No, Sir, I did not, but Todd did. Todd, you put together, I think, a presentation, a couple of presentations on long range planning over six or nine months ago, this is one to Hendricks County on Long Range Planning – Superior Courts Probation Department and then

Ed: Consolidate that for us, Todd. Help us out here, Todd. OK?

Gregg: You put together, I think, over six months, nine months ago, and you gave them an overview of what you just said, so I guess, the answer is maybe we need to bring that back for a revisit. And bring the current Commissioners up to date, because I think, even, probably Linda was here when we did that exercise.

David: But was there any action taken by the Commissioners or the body to say that this is the route we are going to go?

Greg: Yea, I don't know that a fact.

David: Maybe this is a technical question, but it needs to be a part of public record that this is the route we are going to go, rather than an assumption being made and no official action having been taken.

Larry: Probably everyone would be more comfortable with that.

Ed: I would be more comfortable with that. You know we all need to be closed at the hip on this thing guys that this is the way it is. I'm not in any way discouraging the research that you have done to date. All I'm saying is that I've only been in this job for ten months and there was a lot of decisions and discussions before that I have not been privy to and I'm just asking that you revisit this long enough to give me to a comfort level.

Todd: I will be perfectly blunt about this and that I will talk to the judges about that and I believe that I can honestly say that the intent on their approving my use of resources on this project was with that intent and the reason for that is that we are going in too many directions, too many different directions, too many things are apparently not resolved or unresolved and that from my standpoint and listening to their directive was, if we walk away we could say we are sorry, we gave it our best shot.. We still have the jail overcrowding population staring us in the face and still have all of these other issues. Even though you may not like the proposal that's on the table, I see nothing even close or better.

Ed: I didn't say that. I'm saying no one has shown me a direct comparison that I just ask you to do.

Todd: A direct comparison isn't going to be possible

Ed: Oh, well. So you can't put what you just said in writing? Is that what you're saying?

Todd: I can put it in writing, but you are not going to know what or how much we are going to get from Community Corrections funding without going through the State.

Ed: Or, I understand that.

Todd: So I don't know what dollar figure to use. I don't know – I can show you what I think we will lose if we become a Community Corrections County, because I can base that on what we are getting per diam for the Sheriff's Department right now, and again it is speculative how much of a per diam we're going to get on the work release facility because we don't really know how many of those people, we don't know what the population is going to be, how quickly we are going to reach that population, we don't know how many of those are going to be safe prisoners versus, or that would be the equivalent of safe prisoners versus local people, but.

Ed: Let me just say one thing in your very veiled threat there. I don't care what the judges do. That's their call. They are elected officials, they've got every right to do what they want to do. They can mandate, we know that, we've seen that n action. They can do a lot of things, but one thing they can't do is take this pen and put it in my hand and force me to sign a bond issue. All I'm asking is for a comfort level and if you or somebody can't give it to me then it is going to have to be the other two sign the bond.. Is there any part of that you don't understand?

Todd: Other than the part this is not a threat or a veiled threat.

Ed: Well, I think it is. You said you feel real comfortable here at the end with the Judges. Well then, you know, if that is what it is, then that to me is – if it's not a threat then make it happen. OK. It's that simple.

Larry: We've been working on this for – seems like forever – one of the primary reasons for pursuing this is to save the County, really millions of dollars by building the jail and paying the expenses of prisoners in the jail when we could have a facility, that would, maybe not pay for itself, but come close to it. And we have, we've considered lots of options and lots of alternatives and we've, we've had conflicts with the judges before, and on this I think we had reached a point.

Ed: The Superior Court Judges, right?

Larry: Right. We have reached a point where I thought we were on track. Where we were cooperating.

Ed: I'm not saying we're not, Larry. Let's make that clear. Can somebody who was here before me summarize this in writing that Mr. Whicker, Mrs. Palmer and I can say, Yep, we see exactly where you are coming from, you know to give us the opportunity to understand that it is the right decision. I'm not saying you're not capable of making the right decision, you're just not in the position to sign the bond.

Larry: Well, you know that's a threat.

Ed: Call it anything you want. I didn't create the constitution.

David: Well, my point in bringing it up is that I thought there was something in the record that this action was taken by the Commissioners whether it was the previous Commissioners or this body. I don't really don't care as long as there is a record that we did take action as who was going to run the Work Release. That was my point of bringing it up.

Ed: I only want to make one other point on this particular issue.. Todd, as competent as you are of running this operation and making, saving the County money, I don't want to say making money, because I really don't think, but that is because operations will continue to increase in price and so on, so let's just say break even and I would be tickled to death. It's never been done in the state. And if it fails, you know it is like by little scenario earlier. I can't really, I can't toot the whistle and I can't clang the bell, but you let this damn Probation thing go crazy and you see who's going to catch Hell. It's going to be the Commissioners that signed the bond, who floated it to make it happen. All I'm asking is why we don't collectively give us enough data, solid, in writing, so that we can make that decision and get on with this thing.

Todd: I think the data has been submitted on whether we need a Work Release Center or not.

Ed: That's not what I'm talking about. I'm talking about the decision, if the decision is perceived as we are all talking about here. Tell me in that decision where we are better off than considering the Work Release because we can eliminate, I mean the Community Corrections, we can eliminate that situation if we've got some good hard data with somebody's name on a letter that we can then put in a file and we got a record. That's, that's what Mr. Whicker and I are after, a record.

David: Could we have that for the first December Commissioners' Meeting?

Todd: As far as I'm concerned you can have it Monday. But again, I have to, I need to check with the Judges.

Larry: Todd, essentially the data you have already prepared.

Todd: It's there.

Larry: OK.

Ed: So.

Larry: Do you have any extra copies that we can provide to the Commissioners or to print off so the Commissioners..

Todd: Yes, the report that he actually has is a draft.

Ed: In any of the reports that you have put together does it mirror the potential ion of if we were to go Community Communications what would happen and if going Probation what would happen. Can't you

Todd: No.

Ed: How in the world can you expect. You mean you want, you want that program and you don't want Community Corrections. Would that be, would that be an absolute statement, fact.

Todd: Yes.

Ed: OK. The bottom line is, is tell the Commissioners at least why you want to go this way and a dollar and cents comparison. That's what I'm after. You tell them we're going to save millions. Show me where you're going to save millions.

Larry: I don't think Todd can give you, I don't think he can tell you what the costs are going to be if we go Community Corrections. He can tell you what we won't have if we go Community Corrections.

Ed: Well, that's part of it.

Larry: And he can tell you about the uncertainty of not being paid anything.

Ed: Well that's data.

Larry: He can tell you that whatever we get from Community Corrections is what we are going to get this year, next year and twenty years from now.

Ed: So, you're

Larry: And he can tell you probably our inmate population is going to increase in twenty years and based on past history we will not get another dollar more per year than what we would get the first year.

Ed: Well, that's that, that's the kind of data I need.

David: Do you have some information you can present to us? We can't put this on the agenda for next Commissioners' meeting as tonight is Thursday, so would be then the next Commissioners' Meeting.

Todd: I can give you the Community Corrections statute and I can even inquire from the State and see if the Community Corrections funding would even be available above and beyond existing programs. for next year. I'm not certain that it would be available, so even if we wanted to become a Community Corrections County because I believe they have a flat line on their budget. Last year was about twenty-five million and I think there is about the same Community Corrections that has been approved for next year so we would literally take cutting somebody else out if we were approved. Not that the State might be willing to do that.

Greg: Ed, one suggestion is that maybe your County Administrator and I could meet with the State. What I was suggesting was that we meet with the State and find out what it would mean from a Community Corrections standpoint numerically. And if we could do it as a team, you know, I could do the numbers

Ed: I don't care personally. You know, I would rather have Staff that's already paid to do it, but the bottom line is I would like to have given to the Commissioners all the data you can pull together to compare the two approaches. That's what I'm talking about. It can be, we can make a decision real quick if we've got that what we can put in the record and

Todd: I can tell you my logic a little bit further on this. If the decision is that everyone agrees that we need a Work Release facility, regardless of who runs it, then the issue to build it, we should proceed with that, because whether the Probation Department runs it, or whether the Sheriff Department runs it, or whether Community Corrections runs it. All of those options are still there. It's not like your going to have a building that you might not be able to use.

Ed: Please understand. I'm 100% of everything I've heard that with the potential of the jail population, with the potential of the mandate of the Federal Government to build on to the jail, and all the other things. There is no question we need a Work Release Facility. Whether we need 200 beds or 128 beds, I don't need. You guys said 128 isn't enough. Those guys did an analysis on 200. You guys are already on the record of what you need here. OK? So, that research is done. What I have never seen is a real legitimate, it's always be in my opinion, from everything I can read the assumption in the beginning that this is the only way to go. And it may very well be, guys. But help me out here. I don't care if it is Mike and you and if you need to bring Greg into it to crunch some numbers, I don't care, but I fee likely the Commissioners need to make that decision before we proceed on with this. In the meantime we are going to be looking to build a Work Release Center. I don't have a dog in this fight as to who runs it, if the Sheriff runs it or if you run it, or Community Corrections runs it, or if anybody else runs it. What I do have is a problem is when 68 out of 92 counties are doing it this way and knowing that if we start it the way we are proposing now the State will never come in is territory that I believe if you are trying to do good policy you need to compare an orange with an orange as much as humanly possible.

Todd: I think the money is availablethe State will come in

Ed: I've been told it isn't, but you may very well be right.

Larry: What do you mean the State come in?

Ed: I'm told, and the research I've done to date that if we start a Community Corrections based on the Probation Department that the State would never take it over in the event this particular approach fails. That we would be back to ground "O" having to run it locally.

Todd: Take it over.

Ed: Well, to make it a Community Corrections facility. That's what I mean take it over.

Todd: They would if it made them money.

Ed: Sure, Well

David: Could we put this item on the Commissioners' agenda for say, the 22nd?

Ed: If they can do it.

Greg: All right. November 22?

David: Yea.

Greg: I don't think we can meet with the State by then.

David: All I'm saying is we need to resolve this issue.

Ed: I don't know that you need to meet with the State. You need to tell us you're, what you just scenario while ago and if you are willing to put that in writing?

Todd: Absolutely.

Ed: All right, Well then, that to me says it. Doesn't it.

Paul: Well said.....

Ed: That part he just said about, you know, if we go that route we lose the prisoners and so on and so forth. I don't know that to be a fact. That's what I want somebody to tell me. What, if you make the wrong decision here what happens to us. That's

Todd: The Community Corrections statute is going to help you a lot because you will see that in the statute, the bonding mechanism, and the per diem if we take their funds then we have to locally take care of all the non-violent, in other words if we decide to send them to the Department of Corrections, then what happens is they charge us back, they will bill us that $35 per day and take that money away.

Ed: Can you play out those scenarios with Mike Graham and give it to us in writing by the 22nd?

Todd: I can't play out the scenario but I can tell you what the statute says, but I can't play out the scenario because I don't have the numbers, I don't know how many people we are talking about.

Ed: You said while ago, if we went this route, that we would lose whatever prisoners that we've got. Yes, That's what I'm asking for. We know how many are in the jail, we get a report daily. We know exactly who's in there and for what reason. Which ones are safe and the degree of, you know, class of this that and the other. That's what we are after. If we can spread that record we can resolve that quickly and move on. And someplace down the pike here if we are criticized in the future for having done something that's never been done before, I think we ought to have our rear-ends covered as much as humanly possible.

Todd: I'll do my best. And I will. I do think there's the potential the Judges may have exception that perhaps I am investigating Community Corrections and they may say. "What are you out doing investigating Community Corrections and use of funds that has nothing to do with that."

Ed: They will certainly put that in writing, I bet.

Todd: Probably.

David: Well, but, you mean asking you to investigate?

Todd: Yes.

David: Well, I thought we were going with Mike and Greg were going to do that

Todd: I think that's exactly, knock yourself out getting the Community Corrections you know, call them and have them to come in and make a presentation and those type of things

David: Is some of that in here?

Todd: Yes.

David: So, some of what you are talking about is in this report and Greg, this is the report you were referencing?

Greg: Yes. There is one other report, Todd, that maybe I should check with you.

Phyllis: When the idea of the Work Release first came up we were told that for a couple million dollars we could build this facility and that Probation User Fees of $500,000 would be put toward that, so we were talking about, as far as I was concerned, a manageable amount and now this figure for Work Release Faculty only is five and a quarter million dollars. That's a long way from a couple million dollars. And, you know, that was workable for me and I was excited about it and you know, in Todd's defense, I was on the Council for almost five years and I have a lot of confidence in Todd and in his report. When he came to Council the questions was asked about becoming a Community Corrections County and the information he gave me was kind of like when I was on the School Board and the Federal Government would dangle grants in front of your nose for new programs and that, that sounds good, but then you have to take their mandates so you know you do have to weigh that. I guess I have the confidence of Todd, he has looked at that and feels that it is not, but that's just an editorial comment. I still have the question about the two million dollars up to five and a quarter million.

David: Our action at the last meeting, unless someone wants to rescind the action, was to build a Work Release Center.

Phyllis: Yes, I know, but I wasn't at the last meeting.

David: We made a determination and I am comfortable with that and ready to move on. My issue is the clarification as to who is going to run it and to make it a part of the record. And, I would like to see us have Ed put the Work Release on the Commissioners' agenda for the 22nd. Have Todd in to review some of this, which, you know, we haven't heard you present this. Mike or Greg or both can talk about Community Corrections. I don't think it is fair to you to have you talk about Community Corrections because it needs to be somebody else other than you to talk about that.

Ed: When you are referencing law like you did while ago I think you can easily do that.

Todd: I can make

Ed: That's all I am talking about. And, Todd, if you take this personal, you are reading this totally the wrong way. I don't care if you run it, I don't care if your brother runs it; I don't care if the Judges run it in the end, but when 68 out of 92 counties and 0 out of the other remaining don't have Probation. All I'm saying is show us, show us that we are making the right decision and we might be criticized, whatever we do, and I don't mind that as long as we have looked at options and bedded it down and put it behind us and keep moving on. You guys have been working on this for a long time and, you know, we

Todd: I don't, I take very few things personal, so.

Ed: OK. Well, thank you.

Todd: That's not an issue with me. And you are right, I am pretty confident, and I appreciate what you said, Phyllis. And I think not only am I confident, but I think from the stand point that if I am coming here with a request, to specially deal with comments that you said, I am very, very sensitive to the fact of my obligation to the Council, to the Commissioners and to the taxpayers. And I would not be, for one second, saying that I believe that is this was the best way to go unless I was absolutely convinced that this is the best thing to do, and

Ed: Right.

Todd: I have no cross to bear no, no agenda to push. I really believe that given the research that I have done, the information that I have, this is the right decision.

Ed: Right This report was in 04 you know, so you might want to check if things changed or not. Some things have changed, like we've doubled the cost of the building, we know that. But, if there is anything else. But, some of that was anticipating that we were doing something with the Community Building, was it not? And,

Larry: We were ball parking, and

Ed: Right

Hursel: I would like to add something to this discussion something that I am just positive on, that if you are going to spend money and borrow money, now is the day to do it, because if you look, you are going to spend ten million dollars in interest. That is at today's rate that he figured at 6%, right?

Greg: Yes.

Hursel: My opinion, my opinion, rates are not going to go any lower, but I think they could go higher. I sat in a bank and looked at 21% interest rates not too many years ago, and as long as the federal government is having to borrow, think of the trillions of dollars they have been borrowing. Prior to 1980 the national debt was less than a trillion dollars. Today is right at eight trillion dollars. Somebody is short of money. When they are short of money I am of the opinion the interest rates are going to go up. So if we are going to do anything. I say now is the time to do it.

Ed: I agree with that scenario. The worst thing can happen is they go down and we can refinance.

Hursel: that is exactly right. We can always refinance.

David: Could we address this issue on 1:00 PM on Tuesday, 22nd of November to talk about this or whatever, Todd?

Todd: Tuesday, at 1:00?

David: We could do it in the morning, but right now we have the afternoon open.

Todd: I could do that.

Phyllis: We have more flexibility for discussion in the afternoon.

Larry: And I need to apologize to you, Todd. I remember sitting in your office and, really not all that long ago and telling you that we would have the doors open by January 2006.

David: Well, I don't see why we still can't.

Larry: But no, this coming January?

Ed: Thirty days?

David: Oh, oh, no. That's going to be a little tough.

Greg: You haven't even gotten into design and if we, and I told you last time if we run the design phase we are likely six months out. Remember DLGF takes ninety days.

Ed: Will they still look at this even though it is outside the levy?

Greg: They will look at it because it is outside, unless you decide to do a revenue bond. Then you have taxpayers and yea, it could be subject to remonstrance.

Larry: I apologize if I reacted too strongly, but you know it's just a sense of frustration, but I understand

Greg: Phyllis, on that two to three million, I noticed that was when we ball parked it and the process that we have gone through for many years is that we ball park it and then see which one rises to Priority No. 1 and it did raise to Priority 1 and then my guidance has always been that we get an architect involved so we would know two million, five million or seven.

Phyllis: We knew that Greenfield cost right at one million and

Todd: They were two point five or something like that

Greg: Two point something

Ed: That would be three and a half today, if you did the same thing and didn't make any changes

Larry: That one was much smaller than this would be.

Greg: I guess to bring it back to where it started, if you need another option let me know.

Communications Meeting
November 30, 2005

The second Public Safety Communications Task Force Meeting convened at 6:30 PM. The following Task Force Members were present: Myron Anderson, Robin Brandgard, Lise' Crouch, Richard Hayworth, Joyce McClain for Steve Ostermeier, Steve Miller, Bob Waggoner and Judy White.

Other people attending included: John Berry, Larry Brinker, Steve Carroll, Mike Graham, Mike Joseph, Charles Linville, Jack Miller, Mark Morgan, Jim Quearry, Jeff Ritorto, Mike Rosemeyer, Bill Sibbing and Don Smith.

Jack Miller and Mike Graham represented the Commissioners and are facilitating the meetings.

Mike Graham opened the meeting and asked if there were any changes or additions to the minutes of November 3, 2005. There were no corrections to the minutes so they stood approved as mailed.

The first item on the agenda was a review of the proposed Memorandum of Understanding. The proposed MOU is a non-binding agreement by the participating governmental entities to study a consolidated dispatch center.

It was suggested to change: No. 3 Baseline System Design, which states: "The dispatch system will be built to provide reliable mobile coverage and as reliable on street coverage as possible in all areas in Hendricks County." It was questioned that the way it is written we are more concerned about mobile radio coverage rather than coverage of a police hand held radio and a public safety microphone. There is a huge difference. The language was recommended to be changed to read as follows: "To providing 95% reliability for a portable radio, in a vehicle using a public safety microphone in all areas of Hendricks County". It was clarified that this was for both receiving and transmitting. There was discussion that the original goal was to have the police officers use hand held radios instead of mobile radios and if the system is designed right the officers wouldn't have to use mobile units, just hand-held radios and that would keep the cost of the project down.

There was discussion about No. 5C, which reads: "To develop, approve and monitor a budget". It was agreed to change this line to, "Develop a business plan showing associated costs.". There was consensus to accept this new wording.

The participants asked for clarification of No. 5G, which reads: "Give reasonable considerations of the recommendations developed by the Hendricks County Technical Committee". Mike Graham stated the Technical Committee came up with a plan and a dollar amount for the equipment. The County is not willing to pay for all the recommended equipment because of funding limitations.

It was stated by some of the Technical Committee members that the current proposal is a bare bones minimum to achieve the goals of the Technical Committee and reductions would not establish a complete communications system.

It was the consensus to revise the MOU based on the comments. Mike Graham requested the Task Force Members to obtain signature authorization from their various councils, board and commissions and we can sign the MOU at the next meeting.

Judy White, Center Township Trustee, stated the Center Township Advisory Board has already given her approval to sign this document with the current wording, however, the changes will not affect the commitment to sign the MOU.

Myron Anderson, Danville Town Council, stated he has already given copies of this document to members of the Danville Council to look over and bring him any comments or concerns. He requested the new document have the changes italicized. It was consensus of the Group to follow this procedure.

Bob Waggoner, Brownsburg, requested that a signature page be added and this could be signed by each unit and faxed back to the County. Mike Graham stressed that the County's legal counsel preference is that all signatures be on a single document.

The next topic was, what do we need to address to reach a Consolidation Plan? To facilitate the discussion 10 questions were presented.

Mike Rosemeyer said he defines consolidated dispatch is having one centralized dispatch center.

Bob Waggoner, what can the County still do for Brownsburg as we are moving equipment into our new building? Brownsburg has designed a dispatch center for our new town hall.

We will hope to decide on the number of dispatch centers. The problem is the current proposal calls for 2 dispatch centers and the Commissioners have said this proposal costs too much.

Larry Brinker, Plainfield, stated we have to decide what we need and what we will need to give up if there is not enough money for everything.

It was stated that the current $8,100,000 proposal contains the necessary voice and data systems and the MOSCAD System.

These systems would provide a lot of integration among the various agencies. The GIS mapping system must be on the computer screen.

The biggest cost of the current system is the dispatch centers because you are outfitting each one and putting redundant equipment at four locations including the back room and this is costing the taxpayers' money. If you want the most economical way for the taxpayers you need to consolidate to one center. The biggest problem is that we cannot all talk to each other and that is the safety issue. Instead of worrying about territorial issues we need integration.

Robin Brandguard, inoperability is the main goal for this project. Plainfield is spending money enhancing what they have and they don't intend to go backwards. We need to look not at where we are today, but also where we are going to be tomorrow.

Jeff Ritorto, Avon Police, technology will save manpower and we need to take advantage of technology.

Mike Graham asked if they would like to look at the Technical Committee's current recommendation of two dispatch centers and take one out to see how much savings that will be.

Charlie Linville inquired if Plainfield is volunteering to be the central dispatch center? Mike Graham stated we haven't gotten there yet.

What happens if we only have partial participation and how will partial participation effect the consolidation?

Mike Rosemeyer, Brownsburg Fire, the discussion in the Commissioners' meetings have been about how the County spends the 911 money. If we all come together then it would be fair that the 911 funding be used for this consolidation project.

Mike Graham, should some of the 911 money be allocated to those entities that choose not to participate in consolidation?

Should dispatch centers be housed at existing sites, or will it be necessary to establish a new location?

Mike Joseph, Motorola, stated the site is the key. If you take an existing site, something that was prepared for dispatching and is electrically ready or equipped, you're a lot more money ahead than you are turning around and renovating an older building, one that was never designed for a dispatch center. The bank building Myron Anderson talks about is an old building requiring greater costs to construct a dispatch center.

Are we looking at MECCA or something else?

The Technical Committee recommended that the western part of Hendricks County utilize the Hoosier SAFE-T system because the coverage maps showed a better coverage for the rural side of Hendricks County and Hoosier SAFE-T works better for them. We could use Hoosier Safe-T on the western side, but MECCA would work best on the eastern side as we can integrate with Marion County.

The Technical Committee recommended using MECCA's data system because it could serve all of Hendricks County. Some of the western towns are using MECCA on their lap tops including Pittsboro, Lizton and North Salem and there was no problem.

A new dispatch center in Danville could mainly use Hoosier SAFE-T and could have MECCA as backup.

If budget supplements are needed what formula should be applied for governmental entities?

Personnel benefits, how should the employee benefit program be managed, should it be a complete independent program established or does an existing government entity manage these benefit programs?

There was discussion to use an existing entity. Myron Anderson stated there should be an executive board for all participating entities. Mike Rosemeyer, Brownsburg, advised they have put together an organization chart on how to operate with a board made up of firemen, police etc. Then an executive board made up of elected officials with one Commissioner, one County Council Member, two Town Council Members and a Trustee was a part of that board. It was a draft and could be changed.

Mark Morgan, Danville Fire, the chart was set up for the good of the total community not for anyone to look out for themselves. We are paying for a lot of repetitive services with four dispatch sites, whereby with a merger of these dispatch centers we won't need the number of dispatchers that we now have.

With consolidation there will be fewer dispatchers needed. Currently some of these dispatchers are funded through 911, but many are funded through the local general operating budgets.

Currently some of the 911 funding is being used for personnel, but we would have to use all of the 911 funds and more for equipment and we will have to look at other funding for personnel. Charlie Linville stated we need to work together to raise funds and ask for donations when they are needed.

In a meeting with US Senator Lugar it was stated they would be willing to help write a grant for this project, however, they also stated that the Homeland Security grant money that has been handed out in the past to Emergency Management and then filtered to the counties is changing next year. The formula has been changed and certain areas of the country will be eligible for grants just for this purpose. In 2006 Hendricks County will be one of those eligible for a grant for a group effort through Homeland Security and we need to take advantage of that. This means we have to all get together,

At past Technical Committee meetings the Avon Assistant School Superintendent asked for the schools to be involved. Currently MECCA has some utility companies on the system and in the future we can use a patch for utility trucks. Schools can be integrated in a second phase. We can give every school system one or two radios in the Superintendent's office in case of an emergency.

If we consolidate it is going to be cheaper and we will reap the benefits down the road.

Mike Joseph, Motorola, suggested they look at a 15 year lease as it may be cheaper than a bond with all of the bond charges. Maintenance is included in the lease.

Assignments for Mike Graham: Revise the MOU; get some cost figures for equipment; and get a copy of the organizational chart from Mike Rosemeyer.

The next meeting is set for Wednesday, January 18 at 6:30 PM.

IN THE MATTER OF CADET CORPORAL NICHOLAS HAINES

Judge Jeff Boles presented a transcript prepared by Cadet Corporal Nicholas Haines of a speech to the Brownsburg Middle School and the other members of the audience. The transcript was certified by Dorothy K. Swift, Court Reporter. Judge Boles read the following:

As Judge Boles introduced me, my name is Cadet Corporal Nicholas Haines. I'm currently attending the United States Military Academy at West Point. A few years ago, as Judge Boles mentions, I graduated from Danville Community High School in 2004. And upon graduation I decided to do something that not many people get the opportunity to do. As a matter of fact only about 100,000 Americans have been able to attend West Point and become an officer.

My time there at the Academy so far has been about two years. I've learned many things about the nation, about other people, friends, family. Most importantly I've learned things about myself that will live with me forever. Some of those things I'd like to share with you this morning. Some values that the Army and West Point has taught me. These are the seven Army values:

The first one is loyalty, loyalty. As an Army officer bear true faith and allegiance to the U.S. Constitution. In the Army we're not here to uphold some political agenda, spread democracy, anything like that, which is a great thing. But we are here to defend and fulfill the Constitution of the United States.

The second value is duty. Fulfill your obligations. If you say you're going to do something, if you approach someone and say, you know, I'll be here on this time, you know, do it. Don't blow them off. Don't go do your own things. You've told them. You've given your commitment that I'm going to be here, so do it.

Third, we have respect. Treat others as you would like to be treated. You know, don't go around bashing other people, talking behind their back, slamming people. It might be funny at the time, whatever, but that's not respect. And that's not what we should do as Americans of this great nation.

Fourth item, selfless service. You know, we didn't get here by sitting around and doing things that we like to do, you know, watching T.V. Yeah, those are all great thing. But serving other people is what each of us are here for this morning. And that's why we're here, because some else has given up time and has given up effort to better each and every one of us.

Honor, live up to all the Army values. At West Point we have an honor code, duty on our country. A cadet will not lie, cheat or steal, or tolerate those who do. If you do, you're not kicked out per se. But you're under harsh punishment and which you won't do it again. Lie, you know, why do you need to lie, is it to better yourself. Cheat, why do people cheat, do you cheat? Steal, if it's not yours, you probably didn't need it in the first place. Tolerate those who do.

Next, to have integrity, do what's right, morally and legally.

And finally, personal courage, face fear, danger of adversity. That's both physically and morally. If there's a challenge presented in front of you, you know, don't back down, stand up, face your fears. This morning I've given you seven values in my life. May I also present seven for you, seven points to ponder before I leave. First of all, do your share and make your school, your community and the world a better place. Second, take responsibility for what goes on around you. Third, participate in community service. Fourth, help take care of the environment. Five, be a good neighbor. Six, treat other people with respect and dignity. Seven, follow the rules of your family, your school, and your society. Thank you.

Commissioner Palmer requested that Brett Clark be added to the Advisory Board for the Gordon Graham Field Planning Study. There was discussion of the seven Katrina families currently being housed in airport housing and how well the local community organizations had welcomed these families to Hendricks County.

IN THE MATTER OF POOR RELIEF APPEAL

Herschella Dozier came forward to appeal her denial of poor relief by the Guilford Township Trustee for financial assistance for her rent and water bills. Ms. Dozier advised that her daughter was living with her at that time and there were actually two members in her family. Guilford Township Trustee Mick Hickam handed out forms completed by Ms. Dozier stating there was only one person in her family and advised that she was denied assistance based on the information that she provided on the forms for income and family and that she exceeded the income guidelines. Mr. Hickam advised Ms. Dozier that she could reapply in 30 days from the November 15 denial if her income or family status had changed or she could apply for residency at the County Home. Frank Donovan, friend of the applicant, questioned the reasons of this denial. Commissioner Whicker made a motion to deny this application, as presented, based on the information provided by the Township Trustee. Commissioner Schrier suggested that she file a revised application on the basis her daughter was living with her at the time she applied for assistance. The Trustee said a revised application would not be acceptable. Commissioner Palmer seconded the motion and the motion was approved 2-1-0 with Commissioners Whicker and Palmer voting aye and Commissioner Schrier voting nay. The Commissioners encouraged the applicant to work with volunteer and church groups for assistance.

Mr. Hickam commended the Commissioners for keeping the County Home open for Hendricks County residents.

Commissioner Whicker moved to take a short break at 10:10 AM. Commissioners Palmer seconded the motion and the motion was approved unanimously 3-0-0.

Commissioner Schrier reopened the Commissioners' meeting at 10:20 AM.

approved unanimously 3-0-0.

John Parsons stated he had been contacted by a member of the Park Board to purchase a computer and advised that the Park Board wanted to transfer funds to purchase this computer. Auditor Nancy Marsh explained the $4,000 line item in the Park Budget for Exhibits and Displays could be transferred to the Commissioners line for Equipment in order to purchase this computer. Ray Benson, Park Board President, introduced Gerald Pagac, Park Administrator, and explained this request for a transfer to purchase a computer for the new Park Director's use. Commissioner Whicker seconded the motion and the motion was approved unanimously 3-0-0.

John Parsons stated he has often been contacted by firms that would like to pay the County for data from their records and he now has a firm that is willing to pay the County for this data. Mr. Parsons requested direction on how to handle these type of requests and if a policy should be set up for this type of request. John Ayers stated he also has requests for this type of information, especially from municipalities. Auditor Nancy Marsh stated that her office also has requests for County information. There was discussion of the type of information requested. It was the consensus of the Commissioners to refer this request to Mike Graham to research with the various offices and to bring back a recommendation for a policy or ordinance.

John Parsons reported that the County web page is a work in progress and they have sent the Hendricks County Seal to the computer firm to affix to the County pages.

John Parsons advised they are continuing to look at scanners to scan and archive old County documents.

IN THE MATTER OF CLERK'S OFFICE

Clerk Cindy Spence presented an Agency Service Agreement with Pay TRUST Solutions for a payment processing system for Government agencies to include operator-assisted and Internet processing services to enhance the processing of accounts receivable funds on a 24/7 basis. This would provide the person wanting to pay Court Fines & Costs, Traffic Citations, Reimbursement Fees, Taxes, Cash/10% Bond, or other obligations by credit card to THE AGENCY by calling the PTS toll-free number, or logging onto the designated website link, at no cost to the County, as PTS will charge the cardholder a fee for the associated services. Ms. Spence stated she had discussed this matter with the Judges and they were agreeable as this would enable the Courts to generate more funds by making it more convenient for citizens to pay their bills to the County by credit card. Commissioner Palmer moved to approve the agreement with Pay TRUST Solutions for credit card payment. Commissioner Whicker seconded the motion and the motion and the motion was approved unanimously 3-0-0.

Clerk Cindy Spence requested that the filing system item on the agenda be removed as she has already discussed this matter with Bob Carroll, Engineering Department, and they are working to resolve.

Auditor Nancy Marsh reported that she had a request from the Rae Etta Burke, Guilford Township Assessor, for two people to attend a State conference that will cost $150 and they have no line item for conference expenses. Ms. Marsh advised that this could be funded from the Commissioners' line item for attendance at meetings and conferences. Commissioner Whicker moved to approve the expense from the Guilford Township Assessor for two to attend a conference and for the President to execute claim form for the expense to come from the Commissioners' budget Commissioner Palmer seconded the motion and the motion was approved unanimously 3-0-0.

IN THE MATTER OF SHERIFF'S OFFICE

Jack Miller requested to purchase a computer for Linda Adams, 911 Coordinator, for the GIS addressing verification at a cost of $2,230.99 and requested to fund from the GIS line. It was stressed that all computer purchases need to go through the Computer Department and all items should be approved by the Commissioners' before being purchased. Commissioner Palmer moved to approve the purchase of a computer for Linda Adams, subject to Nancy Marsh checking the availability of funds from the Commissioners' budget, or wherever.

Commissioner Whicker seconded the motion and the motion was approved unanimously 3-0-0.

Jack Miller presented an Addendum to the service contract with SBC and stated that Plainfield has requested that this be a purchased from the E-911 funds in the amount of $51,200 for them to add an additional dispatching position in their dispatch center. This is for E-911 software and hardware only and Plainfield will incur the other expenses that go along with creating an additional dispatch position that is now needed as Plainfield has now taken on the dispatch services for the Avon Police Department and the Washington Township Fire Department and they are going to be dispatching for Liberty Township Fire. Jack Miller and Nancy Marsh clarified the current dispatch positions and funding. Commissioner Palmer moved to table this request at this time until we can get more information from Mike Graham and Nancy Marsh as to what funds we can use for this purchase. Commissioner Whicker seconded the motion and the motion was approved unanimously 3-0-0.

Eye on the Pie

This land is my land, not yours

Woody Guthrie wrote: "This land is your land, this land is my land." But that is not what most of us believe. We want exclusive rights to our land and the land around us. We want to exclude others from having the use of their land if that use might reduce our real or imagined privileges.

Let me give you a personal example so you do not think that I am picking on others and being holier than thou. My neighbor owns a lot that lies between our two houses. I want to buy half of that lot so that the remainder would be too small for anyone to build on. This, I feel would preserve a delightful wooded area both he and I enjoy and sustain the undeveloped visual pleasures from both our houses.

Note, I want to buy the land. I am not attempting to get the government to intervene. In many communities in Indiana and the nation, citizens fight new developments because they feel, often correctly, that they will lose some of the amenities they currently enjoy.

Often there is heart-break involved. People who have lived for a long time in one place, nurtured their property and raised their families are disturbed that their efforts and their life-styles will be destroyed by new developments.

A new development may bring more traffic to the area, requiring road-widening and the loss of property frontage for existing households. New residential and commercial structures may mean that groves of trees and acres of open space will be replaced.

What can be done to stop this desecration, as the current residents see it? The usual path is to go to the planning commission and oppose the proposed development. Every possible objection is raised; fears of "what if" are manufactured. Postponement, delay, and denial of approval are sought. All of these are legitimate approaches to retard unwelcome development.

Two points, however, need to be raised.

First, the assumption made by the opponents of change is that we should value the interests of current residents of a community over those of future residents. This is the "first-come-first-served" idea. I got here before you did so I have stronger rights than you have. It's not a bad way of allocating some scarce resources, but it is not a sacred means of doing so.

You and I may think that we are the most important people in the world, but what obligation do we have to others? Should we deny them the joys of living in our community because their presence might reduce our own perceived well-being?

Second, if we value something, why don't we put our money where our mouths are? Why get government to prevent development that is consistent with existing zoning? Are the concerns of the protesters more valid than the property rights of those who own the disputed land?

Americans supposedly believe in the efficiency and fairness of the market place. But often we are unwilling to use the market place to settle disputes. I want to buy half the land next to me. That will give me and my neighbor a way of preserving our property values and the natural views we now enjoy. The price is probably more than I can afford, in which case I will have to accept the consequences.

In the instances that I have been following, I have not heard anyone suggest buying disputed land and then controlling its subsequent use. Perhaps the people who do not want a grocery store or a new housing development near them should buy the respective properties.

By appealing to government to protect them, they are asking the authorities to proclaim their rights over those of other current land owners. If folks want to sell their land or change its use, should their rights be denied to preserve the privileges of others?

Local government officials have the difficult task of choosing among conflicting valid views. But often their task is made more difficult by those who can not reconcile their own interests to those of others.

These problems are most prevalent in places that are experiencing rapid growth. If it is not your problem today, it could be tomorrow.

Morton J. Marcus. Mr. Marcus is an economist who has traveled and studied Indiana for more than three decades.

Commissioner Whicker called for the question and the motion of denial was approved 2-0-1 with Commissioners

Whicker and Palmer voting aye and Commissioner Schrier abstaining.

IN THE MATTER OF SUBSTANCE ABUSE TASK FORCE

This task force was incorporated 14 years ago at the recommendation of the Governor's Commission for a Drug Free Indiana. Mr. Schmalz further advised that during the past years many local coordinating committees have been formed in Indiana and have not incorporated, but have instead met as a sub-committee of the County Commissioners. In doing so, the committees have set out annual budgets as approved by the County Council and then presented specific items for approval to the County Commissioners and in this way the local coordinating committee becomes more of a quasi-governmental organization. A request was presented from the Hendricks County Substance Abuse Task Force to disband as an incorporated entity, but continue serving the Hendricks County Commissioners as appointed body acting on behalf of the Commissioners in the administration of the Drug Free Community Fund, at no cost to the County. Hendricks County
Credit Card Policy
2006

Department Credit Cards

Hendricks County has been operating with one credit card under the control of the County Commissioners. Any elected officials or staff member needing to use the credit card would submit their request and associated paperwork to the Commissioners' office. Primarily the card has been used for travel, registration, hotel and eating expenses associated with conferences and training courses. This procedure has created many management and accounting problems for the County Auditor and the Commissioners' staff. Also, it has created a great deal of frustration and irritation for some of the elected officials and staff members who have had to use the County credit card.

The County Commissioners, in cooperation with the County Auditor, have decided to change the current credit card policy. The new credit card policy will be to issue a credit card to each department in county government. The elected official or the department head will be required to manage and account for the use of the credit card assigned to his or her department. This new policy will reduce the number of accounting and management problems inherent in the current single credit card policy. To successfully implement this new policy elected officials and department heads will need to follow the following procedures and policies.

1. Budget – The credit card can only be used to purchase those items and services contained in the approved budget of the department as approved by the Hendricks County Council and accounted for in a specific line item of the budget.
2. Original Receipts – Upon receipt of the credit card statement it will be necessary for all original receipts to be attached to the statement and the claim signed by the elected official or the department head before processing the claim to the County Auditor.
3. Line Item Number – On each of the receipts identify the line number to be used in paying for the item or service.

4. Payments – Process your bill immediately and submit it to Accounts Payable. If an elected official or a department head has caused a late fee to be assessed the payment will come out of the elected official's or department head's budget.
5. Staff Use – Staff members in the various departments may use the card for those items and services approved by the elected official or the department head. Any unauthorized use will result in appropriate disciplinary action being taken.
6. Revoking Credit Card – It is recognized that credit cards are almost a necessity in today's society. However, the Commissioners approval of the use of a credit card should be considered a convenience and if the use of a card is abused by an elected official, a department head or a staff member the Commissioners will revoke the use of the credit card. All issued credit cards are the property of Hendricks County and upon termination of employment, regardless of the reason the person leaves the employment in Hendricks County government, the credit card shall immediately be returned to the elected official or department head that was issued the card. In the case of an elected official or a department head leaving employment the card will be returned to the Hendricks County Auditor.
7. Maximum Limit - The maximum limit set on each credit card will be $2,000.

Mr. Reitz stated the $22,500 fee would be payable through an appropriated line item by the Planning and Building Department and that an authorization to proceed be signed rather than devising an entirely new contract, which would also simplify work under the current 911 contract. Commissioner Schrier made a motion to move forward to create digital zoning maps and for the President to execute the authorization to proceed.

Commissioner Palmer seconded the motion and the motion was approve unanimously 3-0-0.

Commissioner Palmer announced that she had received a call from Kent McPhail, Plainfield Town Council, advising that Plainfield had signed the Interlocal Agreement for design and construction of the Ronald Reagan Parkway from the County's project limits north of US 40 to CR 200 South.

Kim Galloway advised that the proposed design fees from American Consulting Engineers (ACE) for the Ronald Reagan Parkway from CR 300N to US Highway 136 were $100,000 over the federal earmark amount and they had checked if there was funding available for these additional fee charges. Ms. Broderick requested a letter from the Commissioners to the Brownsburg Town Council stating it would be advantageous to the County for this to be replatted so that when right-of-way is purchased it would be vacant ground rather than platted land and possibly homes and other improvements. It was the consensus of the Commissioners for John Ayers and Mike Graham to draft a letter to the Brownsburg Town Council supporting the approval of the proposed amendment for Estridge's Hession Fields.
