George Tyler Admr. of the Estate of Thomas Jordan Decd. vs Archebald Thorn, Jesse Smith Joshua Harris and Absolem Farlow } In Chancery

The State of Indiana Supreme Court

Present the Honorable Isaac Blackford, Stephen C Stevens & John T McKinney Judges
In Error to the Hendricks Probate Court

At this time Came the parties by their Council & the Court being sufficiently advised of the premises, give the following opinion & Judgment pronounced by Judge Blackford

This is a bill in Chancery filed in the Probate Court of Hendricks County by Tyler administrator

February Term A.D. 1835

of Jordan against Thorn, Smith, Harris & Farlow

The bill was taken pro confesso as to one of the defendants the others filed their several answers. There are a variety of depositions taken in the cause. The Probate Court decreed in favour of the complainant for the sum of 150 dollars & twenty five cents, & stated in the decree, that the defendants should be Jointly & Severally liable to the complainant for the amount. The decree is also for costs against the defendants. The Plaintiffs in Error object to this decree, on the ground that the Probate Court has no Jurisdiction of the Cause. The allegations in the bill and the proofs are that Jordan died possessed of a certain quantity of whiskey as his own property; that the complainant as administrator on his estate; the defendants, after Jordans death, fraudulently took possession of the whiskey, with a knowledge that it belonged to Jordan's estate, & converted it to their own use. The objection made is, that the complainants remedy is at law. This objection is without foundation. The Statute on the subject is as follows; That if any person shall unlawfully & without authority, intermeddle with or embezzle any of the goods, chattels, rights, credits moneys or effects of any deceedant, such person shall be chargable as an executor of his own wrong, & shall be liable to the action as at Common Law of Creditors of such deceedent or other person injured by such intermedling & embezzlement, to the extent of the damages sustained thereby; or such creditor or other person injured as aforesaid may sue such wrong doer as in Chancery & compel him to make answer under oath concerning the premises, & on the final hearing have decree according to Justice & Equity R C 1831 p 168

February Term A.D. 1835

It appears to us that this Statute gives the administrator in a case like this present, the right to file a bill in Chancery, if he prefer that mode of proceeding He is a party injured by the conversion of the intestates property, and is within the provisions of the Statute. The Statutory provision referred to, is contained in the 27th. of the act concerning Probate Courts; and shews conclusively the Jurisdiction of the Probate Court in the case before us.

On the merits of the cause, the decree is right The depositions are amply & sufficiently to support it. The plaintiffs in error make no Objection to the form of the decree. The decree, after stating the amount to be paid by the defendants below goes on to say they shall be Jointly & Severally liable for that amount. The objection is to the words Jointly & Severally, as inserted in the decree.

This Objection cannot prevail. The words objected to are merely surplusage. They do not in any respect, change the effect of the decree. A decree in Chancery, or a Judgment at law, against several defendants renders them Jointly & severally liable for the money, The execution issues against them Jointly, but the amount may be collected from any one of them

It is therefore considered by the Court now here, that the decree of the Probate Court be in all things affirmed; which is Ordered to be certified to said Court
