Canterbury Chalks Up Fifth Straight Grid Victory, 38-25

Anderson, Ind., (AP)—Canterbury College picked up its fifth straight victory of the football season yesterday by outrushing Anderson, 38-25.

Halfback Bob Courtney, leading scorer in the state, chalked up four of Canterbury's six touchdowns, running his season total to 78 points. He carried his drive up to the last three minutes, when he scored the last marker of the game.

The Ravens completed 11 of 20 passes for 213 yards, compared with Canterbury's 102 on five out of seven. But the Knights picked up 259 yards on the ground to Anderson's 142.

UNBEATEN CANTERBURY LEADING CONFERENCE

Canterbury was the only unbeaten team in the Hoosier Conference, with Indiana Central, Taylor and Hanover tied for second place with one loss apiece. Hanover clustered three touchdowns in the last quarter to beat Manchester, 34-13.

This week Canterbury will take on winless Rose Poly, 52-0 victim of Wilmington last Saturday, and Hanover has a home date with Centre, which stopped Wabash's string of nine games without defeat, 9-7.

Wabash, playing Franklin this Saturday, lost to Centre on Frank Cain's field goal from the 20-yard line.

Huntington won one of the most appreciated victories of the week end, 20-7, over Cedarville that ended a string of 13 losses.

Evansville, entertaining Delta State this Saturday, proved a poor mudder against Murray State of Kentucky and lost, 27-6.

St. Joseph's Pumas, idle this week, lost yesterday to St. Ambrose, 20-12, although Sophomore Tom Paonessa scored his first two touchdowns of the season.

The Canterbury Knights clinched their first Hoosier College Conference crown Saturday, with the aid of the Anderson Ravens and Indiana Central. By JACK K. OVERMYER

Because of an unpublicized league rule, Canterbury College today held its first Hoosier College Conference football championship.

The undefeated Knights racked up victory No. 6 Saturday by pummeling Rose Poly, 40-7, in a non-conference venture. While they were doing that, Anderson and Indiana Central were playing a 7-7 tie that handed the title to Canterbury.

Conference officials, after the 1949 football season, decided thereafter to count tie games as a half-game won and half-game lost, as does the Western Conference. But they forgot to inform the press.

THEREFORE, Canterbury's final league game Saturday at Indiana Central will have no bearing on the championship. Central and Anderson, the only teams who play the same number of league games as does Canterbury, forfeited their chances by tying.

Canterbury now has won five straight in the league. Indiana Central has a 2-1-1 record with three left, Anderson a 1-1-1 mark with three remaining.

Thus 30-year-old Bob Meyne, a Hanover grad in a third season of his first coaching job, has given Canterbury a league title when it least expected it.

The Knights have played this season with but 28 men; Meyne had only 14 turn out the first day of practice. Last year Canterbury won two, lost five and tied one. Meyne didn't look for anything much better.

WHAT HAPPENED? Meyne, with concurrence from Assistants Walt Ney and Stan Lobred, lays the Knights' success to "an amazing amount of spirit and a willingness to cooperate that beats anything I've ever seen."

The team's split-T offense, new this year, has an excellent running halfback in Bob Courtney, 155-pound Elwood native. Bob picked off four more TDs Saturday against Hanover to run his season's state-leading total to 17, an average of almost three a game.

Co-captain Courtney's scoring dramatizes the team's improvement. Also the Knights' scoring leader the past three seasons, he had scored only twice through the line. This year, 15 of his 17 touchdowns have come because linemen have broken him loose.

Joe Springer, a 6-2, 285-pound sophomore, bulwarks a line that averages about 205 per man. Joe came to Danville from Indianapolis Tech, where he played no football. Now he is "outstanding," says Meyne, who also proudly reports that on a Courtney punt return touchdown, Springer was in front of Bob all 90 yards.

CENTER JOHN SYREK has been the team's holler-guy, with able support from Clem Boyer, tackle; Bob Smith, guard and co-captain, and two important newcomers, Bloomington's Abe Carter, guard, and Rex Brummett, tackle.

Besides Courtney, the backfield is manned by George Barlow at quarter, Evan Fine at right half and Trent Gipson at full. Gipson, a senior, is a much-improved player; Barlow, a freshman, has proved an excellent ball-handler, while Fine, playing his first college ball, is exceptionally tricky. Dick Syrek, Freshman brother to John, plays both halves and has kicked 11 extra points.

The Knights have beaten Franklin (14-6), Taylor (25-0), Earlham (12-7), Hanover (21-20) and Anderson (38-25), besides Indiana's other undefeated football team, Valparaiso, also kept rolling last week. The Crusaders found Ball State a tough nut to crack, but came from a 7-0 halftime deficit to win their sixth straight, 21-7. Luther (Ia.) and Wheaton (Ill.) remain.

Canterbury's Champs Are Small but Mighty

By the Associated Press

Bob Courtney and his 27 mates on the Canterbury College football squad today held the school's first Hoosier Conference championship.

The undermanned Canterbury team, in danger of being put out of business by injuries at any time this season, clinched the championship Saturday.

Indiana Central entertains Canterbury next Saturday in the final conference game for the Warriors.

Courtney, one of the finest little safety men in these parts, scored four touchdowns last Saturday in a 40-7 nonconference victory over Rose Poly. That gave him 17 and 102 points for the best total in Indiana.

COURTNEY NEEDS 63 MORE TO TIE RECORD

The Canterbury halfback, a 155-pounder from Elwood, needs 63 points in his last two games to match the state record of 165 tallied by Rose Poly's Eddie McGovern in 1942. McGovern's total included 27 extra-point conversions while Courtney has made all of his on touchdowns.

Courtney made 19 touchdowns in the first three seasons of his four-year career and got all but two of them by running back punts and kickoffs and intercepting passes. This year he has changed his tactics and has scored 15 of his touchdowns from scrimmage. Either way, his ability to run 100 yards in 9.8 seconds has been pretty helpful.

Canterbury and Valparaiso's Crusaders are the only Indiana representatives among the nation's 36 undefeated and untied college elevens, both with six straight victories.

A CHAMPION — Trent Gipson, 165-pound senior fullback from Danville, scored his first two touchdowns of the season for Canterbury last week against Rose Poly. Saturday he'll be out for more when the Knights, newly-crowned Hoosier Conference champions, meet Indiana Central at Manual Field in search of an undefeated season. Coach Bob Meyne, whose team now has won six straight, calls Gipson a "much improved" player. Trent's been averaging five yards a try.

Knights' Armor Still Is Shining

Meyne's Boys Looking for ?

By FRANK ANDERSON
Times Sports Writer

DANVILLE, Ind., Nov. 2—The sun's still shining at Canterbury College. The Knights refuse to fall.

And it's a great day for Canterbury's 200-odd students, too. Their football fortunes hadn't seen daylight until this year. Now an undefeated, untied season is dawning.

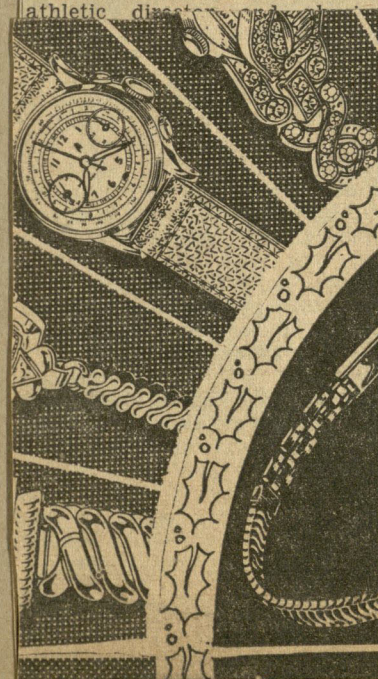

The Knights of the state's only Episcopal college are carrying the Hoosier College Conference crown on their shields, too. The crown is sparkling with five win gems picked up at the expense of league teams. Coach Bob Meyne's boys went outside the loop for their other victory.

Try for No. 7

Saturday the Knights' eleven tries to roll a seven in Indianapolis against Indiana Central, an HCC team. But the game has no title significance, the Knights having wrapped up the prize a week ago.

If Canterbury gets by Indiana Central and St. Joseph's, the last team on the card, the Knights will have chicken and dumplings coming out of their ears. The Danville townfolk are working on at least four spreads. So if defeat comes along it will mean the Knights are really off their feed.

A man who can take 29 men and mold them into a championship ball club is worth a line or two in any paper. Bob Meyne's line forms right now. The 30-year-old coach, who doubles as athletic director,

Canterbury's unbeaten 11,
Hoosier Conference kings,
Go looking for victory seven
And more perfect things.

Bob (Choonky) Springer, a 6-2, 265-pound boy from Indianapolis Tech. Springer played no high school football, but he found his way around in the HCC. If he ever realizes how fast and tough he is the shock will floor him. Pity the floor.

Meyne and Courtney give a lot of praise to fellows like Center John Syrek and Tackle Clem Boyer, Co-Capt.-Guard Bob Smith and Abe Carter, a roud, tough running mate for Smith. Tackle Rex Brummett is rated by his teammates as the toughest line-backer in the conference.

Utility Man

Courtney's backfield mates are Quarterback George Barlow, a fine passer; Right Half Evan Fine of basketball fame, and Full-back Trent Gipson. Barlow is just a freshman, but he plays like a veteran.

Utility back is John Syrek's brother, Dick. Dick punts, plays defense and boots extra points. He's kicked 11 PATs so far this season.

Practice under a coach like Meyne is fun. The head man calls all the boys by their first names and keeps up a running banter with them as they go through their paces. Meyne, a keen student of the game, is backed by two of conference's best-liked assistants, Stan Lobred and Walt Ney.

Stan and Meyne have masters' degrees in physical education and Walt is working on his. Walt, a product of Canterbury, was kept on, according to retiring President Fr. Douglas MacLaury, "because this school can't part with an institution."

Morale High

In the lockerroom may be found the real reason for the Knights' success. The easy informality that prevails is chock full of good humor. Meyne and his assistants suggest, they never order. Showers are covers for laughter not gripes.

After practice the boys will drift over to the "Barracks," the GI type housing in which the school's bachelor students are quartered. Courtney and his married buddies will meet their wives, take in a movie or perhaps dine with a member of the faculty.

All the boys have a good word for Fr. MacLaury. "He's given us all we need in equipment and encouragement. We'll miss him."

Fr. Mac finds time to watch all practices and sit on the bench on game days. He is a promoter in the best sense of the word, having spent two and one-half of the "happiest years of my life" promoting Canterbury's athletic and scholastic program.

Says Goodby

Fr. Mac said goodby to Canterbury yesterday at Episcopal church services. He had said goodby the night before to the football team. There had been a buffet supper for one and all (including a reporter) in his house with a short speech following the dessert.

The 35-year-old Episcopal priest will be on the campus until December, but his duties ended yesterday. He'll take away a lot of memories of the school he helped to found. But one memory that will stand out will be that of a band of 29 eager, spirited kids with a football who'll be looking for victory No. 7 in Indianapolis Saturday.

Triple-Threat Clergy, Coach, Halfback

If these three men have anything to say (or do) with it Canterbury College will add victory No. 7 to an unbeaten, untied string today. Their Knights are scheduled to meet Indiana Central at 1:30 p. m. on Delavan Smith Field. The three (left to right) Rev. Fr. Douglas MacLaury, who has just retired as school president; Head Coach Bob Meyne and Halfback Bob Courtney, the state's leading scorer with 102 points.

8th In Row Is Annexed By Knights

Lebanon, Ind. (Spl.)—Canterbury ended its unbeaten and untied eight-game college football schedule yesterday afternoon with a 14-7 victory over St. Joseph's Pumas. A 62-yard pass play from Quarterback George Barlow to Halfback Bobby Courtney, the nation's leading scorer, decided the game in the fourth period.

In the closing minutes of the first quarter, Barlow fed a hand-off to Evan Fine and Fine galloped 66 yards down the sidelines to score Canterbury's first touchdown.

BUT ST. JOE tied it up in the second quarter on John Frawley's six-inch plunge, climaxing a sustained 50-yard march on the ground, for a 7-7 halftime score. Canterbury recovered a Puma fumble in the fourth period to set the stage for the clincher, handing St. Joe its fifth setback against one victory and a tie.

Hoosier Symphony Improves Steadily

By WALTER WHITWORTH, Music Critic

DANVILLE, Ind., Oct. 23—Thomas Wilson, conductor of the Hoosier Symphony Orchestra, which played its first concert of the season in Canterbury College auditorium last night, may not think of himself as a pioneer, may not enjoy being called a pioneer.

But he is one, in spite of his youth (he looks even younger than his age) and in spite of his slender physique. He is a musical pioneer, one of those enterprising individuals who has the courage to bring good music to small towns that might otherwise have no good music.

His orchestra is composed partly of students, partly of professional musicians, so the playing is uneven, sometimes uncertain. None the less, the unevenness and uncertainty are less than they were a few seasons ago. Furthermore, they are of less importance to the group's public than the conductor's enthusiasm and the player's spirit.

The program last night began with Bach's "Come, Sweet Death" and Ringwald's arrangement of "Battle Hymn of the Republic," both sung by the chorale, and sung excellently. The orchestra played Sibelius's tonepoem, "Finlandia," Beethoven's Fifth Symphony and Strauss's "Tales from the Vienna Woods" waltz.

Renato Pacini, assistant concertmaster of the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra, was the soloist. He played the first movement of the Mendelssohn E Minor Violin Concerto. Pacini—he is also concertmaster of the Hoosier Symphony Orchestra, and acted in that capacity, last night, as well as in the capacity of soloist—is a fine violinist and a musician who knows that a familiar masterpiece, no matter how often it is played, can remain fresh and vital and lovely when it is played sensitively and seriously. That is the way he played it.

He also added Sammartini and DeFalla as encores, with Charles Medlin as his pianist. There was approval for all he played, warm approval.

There was also warm approval for the orchestra. The audience, incidentally, was the largest for these concerts the reviewer has known. That fact, too, is encouraging.
