CAMPUS CRIER

JANUARY 22, 1948

MORE COURSES ADDED BY FACULTY

* The college faculty, at a meeting of January 12th, took action which resulted in the addition of several more courses to the college curriculum. Several of the present courses underwent changes.

In the Department of Mathematics, a course called Mathematics 447, Descriptive Geometry, will be given during the second semester of the current year in order to afford additional training for pre-engineering students. This course will become a permanent part of the college's curriculum.

A recommendation was made that credit be awarded for work in the band, chorus, and vocal ensembles. The final decision on this recommendation is dependent on the approval of the State Department of Public Instruction. Dr. Cumings stated that the administration is willing to award such credit if approved.

In the Department of Music, Music 161ab, Introduction to Music, was changed to a one-semester course for three hours of credit; and Music 156, Music Appreciation, was changed to a two-semester course for four hours of credit. Both changes are effective in the autumn of 1948-49.

PROSPECTIVE TEACHERS LEARN NEW STATE REQUIREMENTS

Prospective teachers met Dean Neel in the Reception Room Tuesday morning in a meeting at which Teacher's License Requirements were discussed. The new and old plans were explained by Dean Neel and Dean Frazer. Any student having credit hours before September 1, 1946 may have the option of using either plan. Those who have entered since that time are required to use the new plan. Deans Neel and Frazer will be glad to answer questions that any students may have on these plans.

CRIER STAFF HOLDS DINNER

Kappa Pi Beta and Crier staff members who are leaving at the end of the current semester were honored at a staff dinner held last evening at the O.K. Restaurant.

The newly elected members of Kappa Pi Beta for this semester are Robert Williams, George Eddy, Shirley Terrell, Birdie Vandervort, Sally J. Hubbell.

Two members of the Crier staff will leave school at the end of this semester, one via the route of graduation and the other to go into business. Howard Williams, present editor of the Campus Crier, will graduate and intends to go into the teaching profession. Bill Sorgius, sports editor, will join a mortuary firm.

Pictures of the Crier organization were taken at the dinner and will be used in the yearbook.

CONVOCATION PROGRAMS ANNOUNCED FOR 2ND SEMESTER

The convocation programs for the second semester have been announced by Fr. James Savoy, who is the convocation chairman again for the second semester.

Some of the speakers include Bishop Mallett for April 28, Bishop Kirchoffer of Indianapolis on March 3, Rev. Will B. Dern, a humorist on March 11, Dr. Cumings on Feb. 4, and the Canterbury Choir on March 28.

During the next semester one convocation will be turned over to each fraternity and sorority on the campus to sponsor a program. The first one of these is to be sponsored by the Alpha Theta's on February 11.

NO CRIER NEXT WEEK

Due to end of the semester examinations, there will be no publication of the Campus Crier next week. Publication will be resumed the following week.

FINALS NEXT WEEK

The mighty brain machines of Canterbury College will be working overtime starting Monday morning at the hour of eight. These very complicated machines will be going full tilt through Friday at five p.m. The brain-teasers will then allow all the students a long "four days" vacation in which to recover and sign up again.

Beginning this coming Friday the electricity bills of many students will take a decided jump into the higher brackets. Also, many cups of coffee will be downed by many a sleepy-eyed student. The proverbial toothpick will undergo a great strain.

Notes that were hastily transcribed on paper will cause many hours of work in their translation in an attempt to inscribe them, along with other millions of things, on the inflamed pages of memory.

Many long forgotten lore like Neolithic Man, binomial theorem, or maybe the imperfect conjugation of some very irregular verb into a foreign language—

MOTHER OF NANCY BAIRD SUCCUMBS

Faculty and students extend sympathy to Miss Nancy Baird, whose mother, Mrs. Jennie Baird passed away at her home on East Broadway Friday afternoon following an illness of several months.

Funeral services, conducted by Rev. Sweeney, former pastor of the Danville Christian Church, were held at the Baker Funeral Home Sunday afternoon. Miss Marjorie Gaston, who was at the console of the organ, furnished the music. Burial was made in Brick Chapel Cemetery, north of Greencastle.

APPRECIATION

They say that we never appreciate some thing until we have to do without it. Now, during the inflationary period we hear all kinds of gripes about the prices of food and many other things. You would hear many more and much louder gripes if we couldn't have things; no matter how much money we had. Yet the things we do have we don't appreciate. We always are in quest of something better and nicer. This is an admirable trait in the thought that we should never be satisfied with what we already have. But we should also take care of what we already have in our possession. This is especially true in the case of things that are not our own. There are many things around this college that are not readily replaceable. This is true not only financially, but they are hard to obtain.

As you have already noticed, there have been many new additions to the college. These things include such things as the new tables in the cafeteria, the furniture in the grid room, pool tables, ping pong tables, and many others. In the near future there will be many more additions that will improve the college immeasurably. We all want these additions to keep coming. If we take care of what we already have, then it will not have to be replaced; thereby saving some money with which the college can buy new furniture and tables.

Most of us do not have the money to give to the college to buy these things, but we can accomplish the same purpose in a different way and in a way that will not harm our pocketbooks. The next time we get ready to manhandle something like it was made of some unbreakable material, think again, and treat it as if it were our very own. If we should happen to see someone else starting to manhandle something, just go over to him and ask, "Does this thing belong to you?" By doing this you can save a lot of things from destruction and make it possible to use them many more times. In this little way we can show our appreciation to the college for letting us have the use of its facilities. HOW ABOUT IT???

HEARTACHES

These poems sing the blues from two points of view. We thought you might be interested and maybe even agree with the two authors and their opinions of the opposite sex.

Men, like oysters, make me sick,
So bitter am I as the old clock ticks.
They lie, the cheat, and steal your heart;
Their kisses seem real but really taste tart.
I'd like to be, when I am able,
The one who'd tell to him a fable---
I'd stand him up, act very rude,
Lead him on, and get in a mood.
By this, it's plain just how I feel---
I hate men---Will my heart heal?

Women are fickle, treacherous, mean. They never are what you think they seem. They smile so sweetly, say you're the one,
But the next you know they're with some other bum.
They primp for hours, "just for you"---
And 30 other fellows before the night is through.
But brother, I'm gonna get even, you see
With the two-faced dame that just ditched me!

A Frenchman was relating his experience in studying the English language. He said: "When I first discovered that if I was quick, I was fast; that if I was tied, I was fast; if I spent too freely, I was fast; and that not to eat was to fast, I was discouraged. But when I came across the sentence, 'The first one won one one-dollar prize.' I gave up trying."

REGISTRATION NOTICE

Registration for the second semester will be held on Monday and Tuesday, February 2 and 3, according to an announcement by Mrs. Louzetta Jollief, registrar. Mrs. Jollief said that all students with last names beginning A through M are requested to register on February 3rd; those with last names beginning N through Z are asked to register on February 2nd. Deviations from the above listings must be approved by Dean Hillegas.

these facts, and many more, will have to be recalled at the zero hour.

All in all, the next portion of the month should prove to be a very exciting and eventful week for all students. Although some people claim the ordeal will be the death of them; the fact remains that studying never hurt anyone.

Oil is scarce, according to all reports, but this is an emergency and the midnight variety can be used in unlimited quantities in such a situation. Official reports say that no student will be denied this commodity.

So remember, if finals are hit hard enough, they will not hit back at you.

Hit them hard! and make them stay down!

BARRACKS' BREEZE

Seems that the Canterbury matrimonial bureau is working overtime. Latest engagements include Schneider and Booth, Hadley and Edmondson, and a whole flock of weddings set for the hot summer months.

According to rumor, Dr. Sparks of Wabash College likes the Wabash flag right where it is and a Canterbury raiding party was nicked just in the nick of time via telephone call to Dr. Cummings.

Lloyd Jones is still trying to figure out how he can get eight hours sleep per day when he only has five classes per day.

When Dick Bollinger kissed Donna Rushli the other night he was merely carrying out a menial pledge duty. Pete Cox took the whole think with a smile.

Always trying to improve the beauty of the campus, a group of Chi Sig pledges scrubbed the walk between Hargrave Hall and the Library Building.

The girls living at Goodhearts can sleep in peace now that Forest Sheeley has been assigned to guard it with his trusty broomstick.

Don't forget to pay your rent boys! (Who wants to eat anyway, hey Jurisch?)

Cries of 'clique cannot be levelled at the Washington Pa. boys. Syrek has pledged Zeta Sig, Calabro, Decker and Schultz have pledged Chi Sigs and Stoner has decided to remain neutral.

Isn't it strange that in a country such as ours where democratic and representative forms of government are in use and staunchly defended by all, that so many people know so little about the actual workings of that government. Do you know who your representatives are? Do you know the issues between parties?

Now that final exams are approaching, the influx of comic books into the barracks has slowed down to a couple dozen a week.

Coronet tells us that there may still be a few dinosaurs in the swamps of Africa. I know a fella that saw one last Saturday night in Naptown.

PLATTER PARADE

Want a good album of discs? If you do, try the latest, Duchin Plays Tchoikosky. This album includes, "On the Isle of May," "Moon Love," "Our Love," "None but the Lonely Heart," "Story of a Starry Night," "Concerto For Two," "Save Me a Dream," and "Secrets." This album takes in some wonderful piano playing by Eddie and also some fine orchestration.

Something new in vocal talent is out. Many heard the Soft Winds when they were with Tommy Dorsey. Well, this nice little vocal group is out on their own now and doing all right for themselves. They haven't done anything in the way of the favorite songs of the day, but are sticking to the out of the ordinary songs. So far they have recorded "To Be Continued," "I Told Ya That I Loved Ya, Now Get Out," and "There're Mine They're Mine." If you enjoy something different in the way of vocal entertainment these records are well worth your buying. Incidentally they were re-discovered by Arthur Godfrey on his talent program. Musically yours,

AMK NEWS

The Alpha Mu Kappa held their meeting on Tuesday night of this week because of the ball game on Monday evening. Plans were discussed for a convo program to be held in next semester. A member was appointed to appear at the intramural basketball meeting to set up rules for the coming games between the fraternities on the campus.

Pledges were given their weekly gift and pledge pins were given to each pledge to be worn until the formal acception into the AMK fraternity. The date for Hell week was given to the pledges, the time is to be the first week of the new semester to be started on Wednesday, February 4.

A bore is a fellow who wants to talk about himself when you want to talk about yourself.

Johnny was gazing at his one-day-old brother, who lay squealing and yelling "Has he come from Heaven?" inquired Johnny. "Yes, dear." "No wonder they put him out."

CANTERBURY CLUB NOTES

Howdy--

The Canterbury Club has a constitution as of Sunday night. The legal minds of the Club combined and came up with some articles and By-laws that show promise of future famous law makers.

John Miller gently dropped a few brickbats on the heads of the Episcopalians who haven't filled out their pledges for the EVERY - MEMBER - CANVAS. Leave us get on the ball-- The ball point of a pen, that is.

PANCAKES, PANCAKES, AND PANCAKES! Chief Chefs Jones and Howell plan to flood the basement of the Christian Church Shrove Tuesday night with 'em and we're all expected to eat our way through them.

ADVERTISEES NOTE

The Pancake Supper is a charity affair. A donation will bring advertising and appreciative patronage. Contact James Jones through the Crier to offer your hel.

AFTER DEAN HOURS

This will have to be rather short this week due to the fact that Shirley Jo has been sick and did not report all the doings. We did learn however, that Jimmy Ambrose had a big date with Hilda Warner over the week end....There have not been many things in the way of social affairs this week.....Wayne Zeigler has got all the little women in Greensburg on his side....Zig took Evan Fine and Mousie down home with him one week end and they went wild...

Sorry that is all we have to report for this time.

We also hear that Miss Watts threw a big party for her 3:00 o'clock English composition class.

EYES ON PSI CHI!

Here we go again, with a report on the Big Tea held Sunday. It was really good. All our faculty members came dressed like fashion plates. The sorority gals had to go some to equal said persons in fashion showing. The only mishap was done by Siler; always original she set an active on fire with her Luckie! But, unfortunately for li'l Marge, the active is alive and kicking - Siler. Tottie is on the sick list. She strained her back, and so to bed, with dire thoughts of life in general, she must stay. Mary Davidson is on the same list. With her it's flu. With us it's lack of sleep. And with all its finals.

Barbie Goodwin is one of the underclassmen leaving our happy clan to go to The Big City to slave away in some dark spot, no doubt. But then any spot is dark in Nap Town.

Hey, the sororities sure looked good at the game Monday. That big "C" was super.

Well, chums, that's all for now. Have fun, for next week we may die! And don't forget to keep your sad, old, an' tired EYES ON PSI CHI!

ZETA SIGMA NU

Zeta Sigma will hold no regular meeting this week and there will be no meeting until further notice due to final exams. Zeta Sigma Nu have set in a body, a dead one at that, at the recent basketball games and added considerably to the cheering section. Work in furnishing the house is going along satisfactorily and the lawn will be in readiness for croquet, horseshoes, and barbecues for this spring. Mr. Dixon has been elected as sponsor of the fraternity to succeed Dean Hillegas, who has been made an honorary member.

A.O.E. NEWS

The Alpha Theta Epsilon Sorority met Tuesday night Jan. 20, 1948.

Plans were made to continue work on the A.O.E. room as soon as final examinations are completed. Our president told us that two rugs had been purchased for the room.

We discussed the possibility of having a mixer on February 4th instead of our scheduled date the 7th of February as there is a high school basketball game that night.

The tentative rush rules for next fall that have been set up by committees from both sororities and Mrs. Frazer were read and discussed. Some of the rules were voted on and then it was decided that the officers and the committee would go over the rest of the rules and decide whether they were acceptable as they now stand.

Decision of how many pages is wanted in the year book was voted upon; the manner of posing for the picture. They are to be taken at Mr. Porter's studio sometime in the near future. The committee in charge of the page in the year book consists of Claudine Alward and Betty Winnings.

MY TRIP BACK

With two suitcases, a typewriter, one makeup kit and two coats over my arm I joined the throng of students on the station platform to begin my trip back to dear old CC. Above the murmur of the train rounding the distant bend I could hear my father muttering about daughters who came home from college for three weeks with their life positions. I watched my mother pull my sister out from in front of the train with a deep sigh then I bid a fond and affection farewell to my family and boarded the train. At least, I thought, I told them all goodbye. My father was behind me to put part of my luggage collection on the coupling platform and I proceeded on my merry way down the isle. I then turned to get my luggage off the platform and who should I see frantically trying to get off the train but my father. I glanced hopelessly out the window just in time to see my little sister's face go speeding by with her mouth open screaming, "Daddy". By the time I caught up with my father on the platform his blood pressure was beating bumps on the top of his head and his language was beating dents in the eardrums of some poor trainman. The little man just looked at him and said sweetly, "Next stop, Scottsburg"; only fifty miles up the road that is!

With that, the wrath of God came down on the man's head and he finally said he would let my father off nine miles up the road; if the engineer would stop on the signal.

I took a breathe and glanced out of the window onto the highway to see my mother flying along in the car running neck and neck with the engine. It took her five years to catch my father, and she wasn't going to give up now. I prayed as the brakeman reached for the signal cord; pleading with the engineer to stop. He did---right in the middle of a cow pasture and my citybred father stepped off the train to a huge reception committee of cows. I settled down for a peaceful trip to Indianapolis.

Fifty-five minutes late, our train pulled into Union station and I dragged me and my luggage off the train with visions of a handsome red cap to take it from there. Visions beating bumps on the top only---no redcap!!

The fight continued to the taxi stand where the passengers of five trains were fighting over one measly, little cab. Two hours later, one decided to turn yankee and drive north. I pulled my luggage in on top of two very accommodating women and we slid into the street. As a matter of fact we slid clear to 54th street and right up to the front door of the Hubbell Hotel. I gave the driver my diamond ring, my jewelled necklace my right arm and he finally let me out of the cab. I was greeted at the door, by the dogs--friends at last! With a sigh of relief, I dragged my wedgy bones to a chair and collapsed.

The dogs revived me and the rest of the hotel people merely nodded in my general direction and muttered in their beard about the agonies of trips from New York. They should complain--their father didn't get on the train with them!!

KNIGHTS HANDED SET-BACK

Monday evening Canterbury lost to Hanover 64-58, the main reason being their inability to take advantage of their charity tosses.

Neither team did any well at the free throw line, the Knights were way off, sinking only 10 of 27 while Hanover hit 14 out of 24.

High point man was Abe Stoner with 24, Gil Barry slipped in 17.

The game was close all the way with not more than 7 points difference at any time. The score was tied 6 times.

Fine shot a long one hander from the side to put Canterbury momentarily in the lead. Midway in the half Hanover led 17 -- 10. Then Bernie Casselman added 7 straight points, along with the help of Gil and Abe made the half-time score 32-31 Hanover.

Leading off the second half Stoner tallied eight points in 4 minutes to put the Knights in a 41-37 advantage. But once again the opposition started clicking and after another four minutes of play assumed a 5 point lead 49-44.

Play was very loose consequently the referee's whistle was tooting often. There were 51 fouls called Canterbury's shooting average was very good, hitting 24 out of 73 for a .329.

CANTERBURY BEATS WABASH

Canterbury scored its fifth victory last Wednesday night when they outlasted the Wabash. Little Giants 52-50.

The first half it was all Canterbury with Gil Barry doing some of his best rebound work of the season. And also due to the fact they were hot they built up a comfortable half-time lead of 29-17.

Second half the Little Giants came to life and made it a ball game. With 10 minutes to go they rallied with 12 points, meanwhile holding the Knights in check with a single free throw. Wabash led twice 46-45 and 48-47.

High point man was Barry with 18 and Fine with 10.
