OBSERVE FOUNDERS DAY

Beta Chapter of the Delta Sigma Kappa sorority observed Founders Day, celebrating its second birthday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Wood on Sunday afternoon from 2:00 to 4:00 o'clock.

Mrs. Wood has opened her house for the Founders Day meeting in her home every year since she has been in Danville. Beta Chapter was founded two years ago on the 3rd Sunday in June.

The spirit of the organization was very appropriately carried out by decorations in the form of a ship with all the Delta Sig's on board and the Supreme Council on the upper deck. The ship was lighted and sailing on, in a blue ocean, toward the goals of the organization.

!! THIEVES ARE ABROAD !!

During recent weeks, articles have been taken away from the buildings and merchandise has been taken from the Y booth! There is something seriously wrong with the individual who has no higher standard concerning right and wrong than to appropriate anything which belongs solely to the common good. This is an excellent example of one thing with which THIS campus should not be bothered.

There is, too, some question as to the strength of a student body which will tolerate such action on the part of any individual member. The gauntlet has been dropped! You have your challenge! The name of your school is scarcely to be sullied by inclusion in this writing.

PARKING PROBLEM

The automobile is the essential carrier of C.N.C. with its increasing importance, it creates a problem of equal gravity, i.e., the proper accommodation of those vehicles when not in actual use.

One really good solution looms in the form of a parking lot. But the end is not yet -- quite, and, until then, drivers MUST be careful. Potential tragedies can be seen any hour in the day. Stall them off. BE CAREFUL!

RETRACTION

We jokingly referred to Library siestas last week and now discover our impressions to have been erroneous. There are no such things here. What with wrestling matches and general furor there is no rest to be had -- nor study. The general opinion is: "They can't do that in Terre Haute." -- or any other place. With ample space in the great out-of-doors, the Physical Ed. and Public Speaking departments seem strangely out of place in the Library.

CONSCIENCE

Dr. Geo. H. Reibold

Let us thank God for the present manifestation of the new Era of Conscience. The Pure Food law shows the appearance of conscience in Trade. Adulterated foods are marked adulterated. Not long ago, fifteen ounces of a food product were offered for sixteen ounces, the extra ounce of the pound was charged for the paste-board container. Today that company sells sixteen ounces of that product for a pound, the price is a bit higher but the transaction is honest. Conscience did the work. Religion is worth its weight in gold, coffee, sugar, rice, and everything else that sells for an honest price.

Some years ago, an Illinois merchant planned the passage of a bill through the State Legislature which was favorable to his particular business. On its face it appeared straight and right. Secretly, it was crooked and favorably drawn to his own interests. While walking through the Springfield Park, he chanced to face the monument of Abraham Lincoln. He did an hour's hard, honest thinking while looking at that wonderful face. Precious, honest old face, dearly beloved by every honest heart. Immediately he withdrew his lobbyists. The bill was lost. The merchant kept what was worth far more to him than any gain that the passage of this bill could possibly have brought; a clear conscience. Note --- Lincoln, though dead, liveth; lives mightily in the hearts of honest and honorable men.

Likewise, in Politics, the honest conscience is strongly manifesting itself. Observe city councils, state legislatures and our national law-making body. What is going on in Cuba? Public Conscience, with whips and scourges, is certainly driving out the money changers. These public servants will be distinguished for their high sense of honor and honesty.

England and France can no longer say that American multi-millionaires can do anything they wish. These could once disregard every sense of decency and good morals. But it is not so today. Such have learned that the avaricious must not seek satisfaction through crime and fraud. Our whole nation is rising up to shake off its former vices, lies, and sins. Observe also that those seeking political preference are first in pleading the cause of the poor and needy.

Our literature, novels, short-stories, magazines are pleading every phase of social reform. They portray the triumphs of righteousness. They seek the defeat of sham and humbug. These become the voice of public conscience. Young men and women of ability shun low ethical ideals. They can easily tell from the signs of the times that any ambitious youth is without hope of future preference whose ethical ideals are low. Honesty has become a contagion. It shows our entry into the Golden Age. The appearance of conscience is our public life prophesies an era of real happiness and progress.

OUR FACULTY

Dr. Nina Gray, instructor in Zoology and Genetics, this summer is not new to the college. Many students will remember that she taught here as acting head of the Biological Department in 1927-'28 and as head in 1928-1929, then in the summers of '30, '33 and '34. Before that she taught for three years in the high school at Centralia, Illinois, and since 1930 has been an assistant in the Zoology Department of Wisconsin University, where she will be an instructor next year.

Miss Gray has been amply prepared for her work, having her A. B. from Depauw in 1924, M. A. from Wisconsin in 1930 and Ph. D. in Zoology from Wisconsin last year. For two summers she attended the Marine Biological Laboratories in Woods Hole, Mass.

Dr. Gray is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa and the Wisconsin chapter of Sigma Xi, honorary scientific research organization, and Sigma Delta Epsilon, honorary women's scientific organization.

STUDENT CALLED HOME

Miss Catherine Aler was called to her home in Zanesville, Ohio, Monday morning. Miss Aler will be unable to complete the term's work here.

JUMBLED JOTTINGS

Radio's finest team was Jake and Lena; Central Normal's--Jake and Ora.

Nightly chapel sessions are held in the library. An actual count disclosed 72 students there at one time. Abraham Lincoln, pray come forth. Free these slaves of books.

LOST--One soft-ball team. Am seeking individual stars. Dick Howell.

Frank Lenning, Linton, and Walter Pritchard, both graduates of 1933, visited C. M. C. Monday and Tuesday. Mr. Pritchard taught his first year in the Commerce Department at Midland last winter. He will return there this fall.

CAMPUS LIFE

Around the Well-House

"Sailing, sailing, over the bounding main.

This is the theme song for 1934 summer fashions everywhere, and especially has this been noticed lately on the C.N.C. campus.

Nautical symbols appear on all forms of apparel. Anchors, ships and life-savers are seen on everything from head to toe.

Line, the aristocrat of washable fabrics, and cool crisp pique are the favorites for these styles. You can make your choice.

Attractive clips and pins, of red, white and blue with nautical symbols used on a very simple cotton frock make the costume immediately smart and up-to-the-minute in style.

HOPE STILES sure knows her styles as her last name reveals. She wears a chocolate brown linen dress cut on nautical lines which very cleverly blends with her dark eyes and complexion.

The dress has a sailor collar outlined in a band of white braid.

EVELYN HAM attended chapel Tuesday morning in a smart brown and white striped seersucker sport dress. A boxy chocolate brown jacket with brass buttons completes the costume. The dress had that nautical appearance because of a sailor neckline.

MARY EVELYN BINFORD appeared on the campus early Monday morning in a crisp white pique sport dress with a cadet blue nautical ascot collar figured with anchors. The costume was offset by white sport oxfords and navy blue anklets.

The naval program is carried on by KATHERINE PRICE who attended her 6 o'clock Anatomy class Wednesday morning in a

"My! what a 'he' man this must have been." exclaimed KATHERINE PRICE while examining the large bone of a leg in Anatomy II the other morning.

"My dear," said CEVERT LUCAS, "that isn't a human leg. It is the leg of an ox."

Sounds like a bully story to me. RACHEL GIBBS holding hands isn't a very dignified thing for the president's secretary to do. And aren't you 'shamed, too, NOBLE BENBOW?

Operator 13 is attempting to find the reason for ALTON COCHRAN'S daily tardy appearance in his 6 o'clock class. We hope to be able to make our report next week.

clean, cool white linen suit. The collar of the three quarter length swagger coat is naval in style and it is outlined with two stripes.

DIXIE FRAZIER you had better write ALBERT LATTIMER a letter and explain about Sunday night before some of your sisters beat you to it.

Why was MARION NEWMAN so sleepy Tuesday morning? That is the question IMOGENE HOLE would like answered. Now MARION 'fess up.

Dedicated to Leslie I. Steinbach.
