PUPPET SHOW SCHEDULED FOR FEBRUARY 21

Huck Finn and Tom Sawyer to be Given

The Famous Olvera Street Marionettes of Los Angeles, presenting Mark Twain's immortal "Huck Finn and Tom Sawyer", will play here on February 21 in Chapel Hall at 11:00. A novel feature of this production is the fact that all the leads are played by portrait puppets of popular movie stars.

The show is billed as America's Largest Marionette Show. There will be more than 100 large marionettes in the cast, a big stage with gorgeous colorful scenery, and elaborate lighting effects, and amplifiers so that everyone in the auditorium will be able to see and hear.

SCIENCE CLUB BRINGS SAFETY SHOW

All Students Expected To Attend

All Students are expected to attend a safety program on Thursday afternoon, February 6th at 1:15 in the Chapel.

At that time a four reel picture with sound will be shown through courtesy of the Chevrolet Motor Company. An animated reel "Down the Gasoline Trail"; "Manmade Blowouts"; "Safe Roads and Driving, Animated" and "It's The Top" will be titles of the reels.

The show will last less than one hours. These pictures are being exhibited in many state schools and we feel particularly fortunate in securing them for the college.

MISS BICKING WILL SPEAK AT CHAPEL

Program Sponsored By Sigma Phi Kappa Delta

Miss Ada Bicking, Director of the Arthur Jordan Conservatory of Music will speak at Central Normal College Tuesday, Feb. 4 at 10 A. M. at a convocation program sponsored by the Sigma Phi Kappa Delta scholastic fraternity.

Miss Bicking, former supervisor at Evansville and Vincennes, has also served as state music supervisor of Michigan and has a fine background of musical education.

The scholastic fraternity is sponsoring one convocation program each quarter and presenting an outstanding speaker in the college chapel. The general public is cordially invited to hear this address.

LAMONT WINS AD CONTEST

Aileen Lamont, '36 was winner of the spelling advertisement contest this week. The winning ad is given below.

Joseph Divelez won second place with Charles Mauck winning third place. Each of the latter two wrote an ad for the Dinsmore Grocery. Only two more weeks left for the contest.

FACULTY TAKES ACTION ON ABSENCES

Adopted by Faculty And Approved by Dr. Wood

The faculty has made effective for the present term their regulation regarding absence, in which any student missing ten days shall be required to submit in written form a report of work done to compensate for such absence.

This work must be done under the direction of the instructor in charge, and the report with his recommendation must be submitted to the Attendance Committee. The committee will receive and examine the report giving consideration to such information as may be furnished by the instructor and the student relative to the reason for the absence. The committee will take no action on any case unless the instructor submits the student's report of work done. If the extra work has not been completed before the close of the quarter, students who have been absent ten days will be given a condition grade, if their work is otherwise passing until the committee passes upon their report, at which time a grade will be given for the quarter.

KAPPA PI BETA WILL GIVE FORMAL WORK

Formal initiation will be given by Kappa Pi Beta Tuesday evening, at 8:30 at Mrs. Wean's home. The traditional breakfast of waffles and sausage will be served at 6:00 A.M. Wednesday morning.

Plans are being completed for the "Leap Dance".

FOUR HONORARY MEMBERS INITIATED TO S.P.K.D.

Nine Active Members Receive Degrees

Dr. E. M. Dill, Mrs. Etta Craven Hogate, Mr. Charles A. Murray, and Dean F. R. Henshaw were formally initiated to S.P.K.D. last Monday evening. Nine under graduates received their formal initiation. They were Eugene Alexander, Helen Thomas, Sidney Amy, Edna Enlow, Lois Ensminger, Elmo Houston, Roger Laramore, and Woodrow Williams.

Dr. E. M. Dill, is superintendent of the Indiana Boys School at Plainfield, Ind., and is doing outstanding work in that school. Mrs. Hogate is an alumnus of Central Normal College and one of its most loyal supporters. She is active in all work which is for the good of the community or C.N.C.

Mr. Charles A. Murray is head of the Commercial dept. of the Bloomington High School and alumnus of C.N.C., and in charge of a special commercial methods course in Indiana University.

The weather was so cold that it was necessary that he be initiated by proxy last Mon. night. Mr. R. F. Henshaw is Dean of the Ind. University School of Dentistry at Indianapolis. He is an alumnus of C.N.C. and has always maintained his interest in this school. He was also initiated by proxy.

Mr. John W. Cravens Registrar of Indiana University also accepted membership as a honorary member and will be initiated at the next meeting.

DEAN STEINBACH SPEAKS AT "Y"

A very ... informal group met with Dean Steinbach Tuesday evening when he spoke on the subject of "Being Alive In College." He elaborated upon the subject very freely and it proved to be very interesting.

Miss Bulington read scripture and offered prayer.

DR. WOOD SPEAKS AT W. A. A.

"The relationship of Training on the Physical Features of The Body", was the theme of Dr. Wood's interesting talk Wednesday evening.

Plans were made for a Valentine Party to be held Wednesday evening February 19. The following committees were appointed: Decoration, Dorothy Burke Marian Hudson, and L. Morgan. Entertainment committee consists of M. Wainwright, C. Poland, and Justine Craig. Refreshment committee, M.. Myers, M. Cain and M. J. Beeson.

The tournaments are also to be held in the near future. All who desire to enter, be at basketball practice next week. The notice will be posted upon the bulletin board.

ALPHA THETAS WILL HOLD DINNER

The Alpha Theta sorority met Monday night in Science Hall. Plans were made for a dinner to be given at the Hill Top Tea Room in honor of rushees sometime next week.

Important meeting Monday night in Science Hall at 6:00 P.M.

Music

All plans have been made for the band to go to Butler for the basket-ball game February 15. All that want to make this trip should be at rehearsals so as to prepare some new music for the occasion.

The band also has made arrangements for a trip to Bainbridge next term.

The chorus will have new music to work on next term. All that are interested in chorus work should see Miss Weber and get your name on the list for the chorus for next term. Rehearsal time has not yet been made. Rehearsals for the rest of this term will be on Tuesday and Thursday at 12:30.

DR. AND MRS. WOOD WILL ENTERTAIN

Dr. and Mrs. Wood will entertain the faculty and board members next Saturday evening at their home on East Broadway with a dinner. This dinner is an annual affair and is enjoyed greatly by all. The wives and husbands are also invited.

DAVE WILLIAMS RETURNS TO CAMPUS

Dave Williams whose Mother was fatally burned last week returned to the campus Wednesday Afternoon. He reports that nothing was saved of the household furniture. The Mother had wakened the rest of the family and got them out of the house and then returned for some money which had been left in another room. She was caught in the fire while trying to escape.

WHAT NEXT?

Elmer L. Hoehn

Exactly 100 years ago Ralph Waldo Emerson, the great philosopher wrote:

"Society has played out its last stroke. Young men have no hope. Adults stand like day-laborers idle in the streets. The present generation is bankrupt of principles and hope, as it is of prosperity."

But the United States outlived all these troubles of which he wrote:

"The United States can never pay its debts. Nothing is left but to put it in chancery and sell it to the highest bidder."

Emerson has been called "the wisest American," yet there were times when he became so despondent over the social conditions of his day that he wrote the above opinions.

In a recent speech, President Roosevelt in referring to those who are always pessimistic in their outlook on life, quoted the following:

"My grandpa notes the world's worn cogs,
And says we're going to the dogs;
His granddad in his house of logs,
Swore things were going to the dogs;
His dad, among the Flenish bogs,
Vowed things were going to the dogs;
The caveman in his queer skin togs,
Said things were going to the dogs;
But this is what I wish to state--
The dogs have had an awful wait."

Every age has its problems, its obstacles, and its rewards. Every age is a challenge to youth. It is only as each generation of youth meets this challenge better than the preceding generation that civilization advances.

During the past few years youth of America has had many discouraging experiences. Millions could not find employment and millions of others were forced into idleness due to the closing of schools. The theme of the literature published during the period has been the disillusionment of youth.

As the schools and colleges of America settle down for the year coming, there is a new outlook. The pessimism of the past few years is disappearing. Young people are attacking their problems with new hope and determination. The outlook for education is better and the economic situation is improving. Those who still believe that the country is going hopelessly to the dogs should read the history of their country.

Will Durant, author of the "Story of Civilization" said:

"No one can tell what kind of culture is likely to evolve in America, but there are signposts. Usually we see a civilization passing through three stages: There is the pioneering stage of lighting for and settlement of land; then comes the commercial-industrial stage when woods are cleared, natural resources are tapped and wealth accumulates; then at last, appears the cultural stage.

Ancient Greece went through the first two stages in the fighting, heroic Age of Agamemnon, and the financial Age of Solon. Then came the age of temple-building, of great statues, of great dramas, the age of Pericles. The cost of producing great dramas, free to the populace, was borne by rich men predisly as we have the Lewissohn concerts in New York, and the medical and educational projects of Rockefeller.

Which means that we in America are now beginning to pass from the second to the third stage; from the commercial to the cultural. There are many signs visible today that America is culturally hungry."

Sinclair Lewis observes that:

"Growth is the foremost ideal in America. It is chiefly material, industrial and commercial growth. But eventually it may lead to the ideal of intellectual and spiritual growth."

Walter Lippmann in the New York "World" writes:

"Many of the elements which seem to go with great epochs are present in America now. A great surplus of wealth that means leisure. It also means the power to draw toward ourselves artists, thinkers, inventors, from all parts of the world. We are living in a time when new ways of thought and feeling originate."

So it is that different thinkers show us that there is a movement in this country toward greater things, to a far higher level of culture, spiritual, intellectual and artistic, than any we have yet attained.

NEWS ITEM: Record cold spell expected this evening. This paper was put out in a room in which the windows were completely covered with ice--and we aren't far north either.

Amos Shelton thinks the girls at 73 East Broadway are slightly nuts. Just ask Mike Guthrie about that, he ought to know.

Helen Bain and Carl Steinman were seen at two (2) dances last week-end. Does that mean anything?

Charles Bell and Grover Noel apparently think the pastures are greener at New Winchester.

We've seen Phyllis Staley and Snap Weaver together a lot lately. What about Marjorie and Phyllis' steady?

It's time to be nonchalent----

When Mr. Maxam calls on two practice teachers the very day they decide it's too cold to venture away from home.

When A. C. N. C. coed leaves Indianapolis on the 11:30 bus and discovers that Miss Weber is also a passenger.

When you meet your boy-friend up-town after telling him you have to stay at home and study,---Light a Murad girls, light a Murad.

Imogene McCloud runs around too much to suit a certain young man we know.

Joe Andrews is oh, so happy. Toots is back in town.

Some curious person wants to know how much rent Johnny Newbold and Martha Caswell are paying for the east end of Science Hall.

It appears that Mary Lingeman is beating Martha Todd's time as far as a certain young man is concerned.

Jimmy Montgomery and Thelma Drake are frequently seen gazing into each other's eyes.

Roudy's "tall, dark, and handsome" charms just overwhelmed Lois Riddle at the Mixer Wednesday night.

We recall the story of another man, a German professor, who was sitting in a railway depot with his wife, waiting for the train. Suddenly he exclaimed, "My word! I've left my gold watch up in the hotel room. I'll have to run up and get it."

"But you haven't time," said his wife.

Thereupon the professor jerked out his watch "the watch in question) and blurted, "Sure, I got fifteen minutes. I can make it." And he turned and started to scurry away!

And the theme song this week for all who slip and fall should be "You Hit The Spot."

And they call the bus drivers "Major Bowes" because the bus goes round and round and where it stops nobody knows.

Sub-zero has scored another victory! No chapel was held Tuesday morning due to inability to heat the chapel hall.

No chapel program has been held for several weeks, and some are wondering if ushers will be necessary while others think that perhaps if the seats were labeled it would save some students from inconvenience.

Someone should tell Paul Jones that the stylish young lady always wears a skirt beneath a thin dress.

Mary E. Hendricks seems to think that Milton Williams is the only Romeo on the campus. Harold Pharis and Harold Wallace say they wish she would look their way once. Also Louie Kent and Sylvanus Comer are trying to get in on the side.

EX LIBRIS

EX LIBRIS

Among recent publications Ellen Glasgow's VEIN OF IRON has been widely advertised and reviewed by critics. In my opinion the bood would have been far more interesting had the author entered more abruptly into the story instead of giving so lengthy a seeting for her characters. In fact, if the reader has enough patience to "muddle through" the first fifty pages he will then discover the Vein of Iron and pursue its effects to the end. Briefly the story is: the relation of the joys and sorrows--mostly sorrows--of a small town philosopher and his children; the crimes committed by a "modern Becky Sharp"; the punishment of passion; and, the ravages of poverty. Although the characters are at times given to actions not true to the majority of the human race, I must admit the "Vein of Iron" is clearly and graphically described and its significance will long remain in the mind of the reader. Read this book and see if you are able to find the meaning of the title, VEIN OF IRON.

C.N.C. DEFEATS ST. JOE

Led by Gerald Roudebush, the Central Normal basketball team won from St. Joseph College last Monday night by a 51 to 20 score. This was the ninth consecutive victory of the Purple Warriors.

St. Joe sprang into an early lead of 5 to 2 which was the only time that the Warriors were behind more than two points this season. This was rapidly overcome, however, by Wilson and Englehart, and at the halfway mark, Normal was leading 25 to 11. In the second half the Warriors turned the heat on, scoring 26 points to their opponents 9.

Roudebush held individual scoring honors for Normal with 15 points.

WARRIORS WILL MEET TAYLOR TONIGHT

Eleven men will leave with Coach Leitzman at 2 o'clock this afternoon for Upland, Ind., where they will play the Taylor University squad tonight. Taylor's record at the present time has not been very high, but it is possible that they will stage a come-back in this battle.

The men who will make the trip are Williams, Englehart, Morris, Wilson, Roudebush, Scott, Gullion, Wallace, Cobb, Hammond, and Franklin.

INTERMURAL

Music is not the only thing that goes round and round. The round robin in the gym is subscribing some cylindrical cycles too. Too much competition to give you a logical winner as yet. Wait till next week---they will still be going round and round.

SIDELINES by Yocom

Victory numbers 9. This time at the expense of St. Joe to the tune of 51-20.

WHO'S WHO

Next on the roll is Daniel Ballard, Senior guard, of Logansport.

Dannie came to CNC in the fall of '31, following his graduation from Walton High School in the spring. He made the All-County and All-Sectional three years out of four while in high school. He has two sisters and no brothers.

At Central Normal College, Dannie is a four sport man and has been a member of all four squads for four years. He is a member of the Letterman's Club, and has the distinction of being the only charter member of Sigma Lambda Pi on the campus.

Dannie had an awful time remembering when he was married--but he finally decided it was September 25, 1934. Her name is Mrs. Dan Ballard.

Dick Howell, CNC '34 is directing the ball team of Montmorenci High School which trounced the strong Jeff of Lafayette quintet last weekend in the annual county tourney.

The teams met in the final game of the tournament at 8 o'clock Saturday evening in an interesting game. Following the victory the Montmorenci fans tried to secure the nets as souvenirs. A strong resistance was made by the Jeff fans. Peace was restored by a Riot Squad.

This is Dick's second year, and he seems to have a winning ball club.

GEORGIA STUDENTS DEFINE "LOVE"

Athens, Ga.--"It's an itching around the heart that can't be scratched; an experience from which you never learn better; and it's undefinable, because you can't see it, but, oh, how you can feel it." That's what several University of Georgia students think love is.

Other definitions given to a reporter for the Red and Black, student paper, are:

"Love, when returned, is man's greatest possession; when unreturned, his sharpest thorn. It's an experiment, often tried, but never proved--love is a misunderstanding between fools."

Have you heard of the girl in Latin class who translated concerning Achilles: "His mother, holding him by the heel, dipped him in the River Stynx until he was intolerable.

Dear Mom and Pop:

I thot it is about time for another letter. We have been havin quite a cold spell up here. I've been pretty well except a sore throt so I thot I would go see the Dr., you know they had one here at school so I went. I had to fill in a card to give to the Dr. before I went in. When I went in I didn't see anyone but some woman that had a smack on. So I just stood around a little bit and pretty soon she said, "Well what can I do for you? I didn't think she could do anything for me so I said nothing. Then she said, "Say, why did you come in here then? So I told her I wanted to see the Dr. and then she said that she was the Dr. well you could have nocked me down with a feather. Mom, I didn't know that women could be Drs. I thot that it had to be a man. You know them gloves you gave me for Christmas? (Those with the leather piece that went up throu my coat and over my collar.) Well I got them wet the other day and the leather piece streched to beet the band. So the other night a boy, I think his name was somethin like Cold, or Cole walked home with me. When we got home he broke his shoe-string. So I told him we could fix that so I took the leather that had streched and let him put that in his shoe. He went back to his home. You know the next morning I couldn't find one of my gloves anywhere. And-what do you think, Mom? We had forgotten to cut the glove off from the leather piece he put in his shoe.

Your loving daughter,
Fanny Freshman.

P.S. I went to the President's Ball last nite, but didnt see any president but Dr. Wood so guess it was given for him, but he doesn't even dance.

ABSENCE RULES

No exceptions will be made for absence of ten days regardless of the cause. Students who are obliged to miss more than ten sessions of one class can hardly expect to receive credit for the quarter. Any absence whatever is a serious limitation and instructors will give due consideration to such in determining quarter ratings. Days missed by late enrollment at the opening of the quarter are counted as absence.

Instructors are directed to report to the Attendance Committee each student who has been absent ten days, within one week following the tenth absence, together with a statement of the assignment and requirements, for the completion of the extra work. A form is provided for this report and a copy should be given to student.
