

HENDRICKS COUNTY

VOTING RECORDS

1826 - 1832

ORIGINAL

An act organizing the county of Hendricks was approved December 23, 1823. The county was named in honor of William Hendricks, then governor of the state of Indiana, and was, by the act, authorized to enjoy its rights as a separate county.

HENDRICKS COUNTY VOTING RECORDS

From a very small settlement in 1820, the population had grown by 1824 to between 100 and 200. These first settlers came to White Lake, and then to the county, soon after followed on Sal River in the west. The Sal River is the south-west part of the county.

1826-1832

Commissioners appointed to locate the county seat were to meet at the house of the late William Ballard in said county of Hendricks on the second Monday of July 1824.

Compiled 1971 By

MRS. ROY H. PRITCHARD

"The circuit court of the county of Hendricks shall meet and be holden at the house of the late William Ballard in said county of Hendricks, until suitable accommodations can be had at the seat of justice of said county." —Hendricks County History, Vol. 1, p. 10. (The William Ballard house was on the Terre Haute Road just north of present day Belleville.)

Originally Hendricks county was divided into nine townships. Five of these, Center, Guilford, Liberty and Washington, had sufficient population to organize at an early date. The other four townships were determined by the act of 1823. The first elections were held in 1824.

These names are from lists of Hendrick's County's pioneer voters in eighty-four elections held over the county, many in the cabins of first settlers. They are quite valuable as no early tax lists exist for Hendricks County.

A "book" was held on Monday, December 23, 1823, at the house of the late William Ballard, in said county of Hendricks, for the purpose of organizing the county of Hendricks, and for the purpose of electing commissioners to locate the county seat.

FOREWORD

An act organizing the county of Hendricks was approved December 29, 1823. The county was named in honor of William Hendricks, then governor of the state of Indiana, and was, from April 1, 1824, to officially enjoy its rights as a separate county.

From a very small settlement in the spring of 1820, the population had grown by 1824 to between nine hundred and one thousand people. These first settlers came to White Lick in the southeast part of the county, soon others followed on Eel River in the northwest, and a few on Mill Creek in the southwest part of the county.

Commissioners appointed to locate the county seat were to meet "at the house of the late William Ballard in said county of Hendricks on the second Monday of July 1824."

"The circuit court and all other courts of the county of Hendricks shall meet and be holden at the house of the late William Ballard in the said county of Hendricks, until suitable accommodations can be had at the seat of justice of said county." —Hadley's History of Hendricks County 1914 — (The William Ballard house was on the Terre Haute Trail just south of present day Belleville.)

Originally Hendricks county was divided into nine townships. Only four of these, Center, Guilford, Liberty and Washington, had sufficient population to organize at the same time the county organized. Franklin followed either later the same year or in 1825. Exact dates of organization cannot be determined for some of the townships but the seven remaining townships were organized by the following respective dates: Eel River, 1826; Brown, 1828; Middle, 1833; Marion, 1836; Clay, 1845; Union, 1852 and Lincoln, 1863.

A "Green" township is named in these voting records. Elections were held on Monday, August 7, 1826, and on Saturday, March 29, 1828. Names listed indicate Green township to comprise an area mostly in present Guilford township, lying west of Big White Lick Creek. To date no added information has been found on Green township of Hendricks county.

The Cumberland road through the southern part of the county aided in rapid development and made Hendricks county a part of the highway for immigration to the west. Many travelers made this their permanent residence while others soon moved on without ever being included in the Federal census of the county. Possibly some of these voters' names are recorded nowhere else in the county.

Alphabetical arrangement has been used. Therefore researchers should explore every possible spelling of names.

Names were transcribed from xeroxed copies of the original records by Mrs. Roy Pritchard, alphabetized by Miss Mary Maxwell and Mrs. Clark Kellum, and typed by Mrs. Howard Pritchard.
